NAVAL BATTLE IN CHANNEL

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—A British attempt "to approach" the German-occupied Channel coast today was turned back by German naval guns, the German radio said, without explaining the nature of the attempt. From the wording of the broadcast and the mention of naval artillery the British thrust may have been sea-borne.

In London, Reuters, the British news agency, transcribed the German broadcast as saying that the German batteries "with great success" fired on "enemy ships which were trying to approach the Channel coast."

RAF FIGHTS NAZIS IN SYRIA

U. S.-Vichy Break Near As French Help Hitler

By the Associated Press

German tanks and bombers were reported moving across French-mandated Syria toward Iraq today as France's role in the war stirred grave repercussions in both London and Washington. Britain announced the RAF had attacked Nazi planes in Syria.

Except for diplomatic formalities, informed quarters said, the United States has reached an open break with the French government of Chief of State Philippe Petain.

Reuters, British news agency, quoted a dispatch from Cairo that German occupation of Syria had begun, with Nazi tanks, war materials and planes crossing the French-mandated nation in the direction of Iraq.

Vichy Crisis Too Grave for F. D. to Bare

WASHINGTON, May 16 (INS)—President Roosevelt today said the international situation is too serious for him to discuss such hypothetical questions as what a action the United States might take in regard to the French West African possession of Dakar and the Carribean sea island of Martinique if they are threatened by Axis powers.

With diplomatic relations between the United States and France strained almost to the breaking point following seizure of 13 French ships, the President at his press conference parried all questions concerning action the government may take in connection with the new Franco-German collaboration agrement.

He said the situation is changing too rapidly from hour to hour and day to day for him to engage in a hypothetical discussion of what moves this government may find necessary.

Marshal Petain Wm. D. Leahy

This, he added, applied to the question of whether Ambassador William D. Leahy would be recalled from Vichy as well as to whether he considered Marshal Petain still a "free gent" as head of the French government.

Asked if it were not true the State Department has decided to cancel plans for monthly shipment of two boatloads of wheat to France, he referred his questioner to the State Department.

He replied in this manner to such questions as whether the United States naval patrol was proving successful and to what exent diplomatic advices from Vichy had in-

RAF Bottles Nazi Sweep Into Syria

LONDON, May 16 (AP) — British airpower is smashing at the Germans in French-ruled Syria, where Nazi planes and panzer forces are reported making a swift infiltration further along the Nazis' route to the Suez and nearer Britain's Middle East oil fields.

An official British announcement in Cairo today disclosed that the first British blows had been delivered on this potentially crucial battle front yesterday when German warplanes were attacked by the RAF at Damascus, Rayak and Palmyra, all in French-mandated Syria.

This followed upon a report by Reuters, British news agency, that German tanks and other light mechanized forces were occupying Syria and moving across her sandy wastes toward Iraq.

British Retake Salum on Libyan Border, Claim Big Axis Losses

CAIRO, Egypt, May 16 (AP)—Salum has been reoccupied by British troops, it was announced officially here today.

A Middle East headquarters communique said serious casualties had been inflicted by the British on Axis forces which had held the Egyptian border outpost, just across from the Libyan frontier.

Besides reoccupying Calum, the British said Halfaya Pass—whose hot, embattled sands British soldiers call "Hellfire Pass"—and Musaid, also were retaken.

(The German high command in Berlin acknowledged that British forces had "penetrated" Salum, but said this was only part of stronger forces which advanced both on that post and Ft. Capuzzo in Libya. The British paid heavily in casualties and prisoners, the Germans said.)

Halfaya Pass is a narrow passage just southeast of Salum. Through it passes the road back to Sidi Barrani, 60 miles within Egypt, which was the high water mark of the Italian advance.

ROME May 16 (AP)—British forces are attacking the Italian stronghold of Amba Alaji in northern Ethiopia from all sides, heavily supported by planes and artillery, the Fascist high command reported today.

Vichy Says F. D. Misunderstands

VICHY, France, May 16 (AP)—The immediate and unofficial reaction today to President Roosevelt's anti-Axis appeal to the French people was that it was based on a misunderstanding of Marshal Petain's aims.

It was considered unlikely there would be any publicit expressed official reaction to the Roosevelt statement since it was not formally directed to the French government.

In any case, it was likely that Vichy would await a full report from the French embassy in Washington.

British Chase Nazi Ship

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 16 (INS)—Apparently chased for two weeks by a British armed auxiliary cruiser, the 3280-ton North German Lloyd liner Lech put back into Rio harbor today with the British war craft close in her wake.

Nazis in Spots For 'Next Blow'

BERLIN, May 16 (AP)—The "positions from which the next blow will be struck have been occupied," the well-informed Dienst Aus Deutschland declared today in speculation on Germany's next war move.

This significant sentence in the well-posted news commentary was part of an inspired German utterance on French-German relations, in the course of which Dienst said that French Marshal Petain had taken a "positive attitude" in recent discussions.

WEATHER

Official U. S. Weather Bureau Forecast

LOCAL: Increasing cloudiness, temperature about the same as last night; lowest temperature near 54 degrees; Saturday considerable cloudiness, slightly cooler than today! light, variable winds tonight; gentle northwest winds Saturday.

MAINE, NEW HAMPSHIRE — Fair tonight; Saturday increasing cloudiness; no important change in temperature.

GENERAL CONDITIONS

The Atlantic disturbance remains near enough to cause the continuance of the flow of dry air from the northwest, which is producing fair weather over New England today. While nights continue cool, daylight temperatures are somewhat high. The northwest dry, air current is expected to give way slowly to a more moist current from the west and southwest tonight and Saturday, which will result in increasing cloudiness followed by considerable cloudiness over most of New England on Saturday.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Extended forecast for the period from 7:30 p. m. (E. S. T.), Friday, May 16, until 7:30 p. m. (E. S. T.) Wednesday, May 21.

The temperature during the next five days will average 2 to 7 degrees above normal. Normals for the period are Boston and Burlington 58; New Haven 59; Concord 55; Portland 54; Nantucket 53; Tasiport 48.

Warm weather at the beginning of the period will be followed by cooler weather during the middle of th period and higher temperatures again at the end of the period. The rainfall will total moderate (¼ to 2-3 of an inch) in southern New England and heavy (more than 2-3 of an inch) in northern New England, occurring as showers Sunday and Monday and again at the close of the period.

BRITISH SEEK SECRET CLUE TO HESS' REAL PURPOSE IN HIS CREDENTIALS

By EARL REEVES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 16—Vitally important documents which may reveal whether Rudolf Hess is a traitor to the Nazi Reich or a "murdered" who flew to Scotland with the knowledge of Chancellor Hitler were studied by the highest British government officials today.

At the same time Hess himself remained under perhaps the heaviest guard known to modern times to prevent even the slightest "influences" from Germany reaching his mind.

Every precaution is being taken to guard against any scrap of information or subtle hint of Nazi propaganda which might affect the veracity of information regarding Germany which British agents are extracting from Hess under persistent questioning.

This afternoon it was understood Hess has concluded his talks with British military and diplomatic officials.

Lord Hamilton Lord Duff-Cooper

Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, saw Hess at the hospital—possibly to gain material for public release. Duff Cooper is the only cabinet minister known definitely to have seen Hess, although unconfirmed reports said Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden also interviewed him.

Important papers bearing on the Hess affair were said to have been brought to London by Ivone Kirkpatrick, a high foreign office authority who first talked to Hess in Scotland.

Kirkpatrick carrying the documents in a briefcase with double locks, reached the capital in a British fighting plane piloted by

Find Broker's Body, Car in Hull Harbor

Jordan S. Orler, 60, of Newton, a Milk st. broker who was due to go on trial next Monday for alleged larcenies totaling $17,000, was found dead today in his automobile, submerged in Nantasket bay beside the steamboat landing.

Police said it was evident that Orler, who had figured at various times in court troubles since 1921, evidently had driven his car into the parking lot at the pier's north side, then had crashed through a fence and dropped 12 feet over a retaining wall into the sea.

The car was sighted as the ebbing tide revealed the top of the sedan to Lawrence Grindle, mate aboard the Nantasket Steamboat Co. steamer Mayflower, one of four vessels tied up at the pier and preparing to go into summer service May 28.

Orler, who lived with his wife and children in Elmhurst rd., Newton, was found slumped behind the wheel when the car was derricked out of the water.

CAR AT COTTAGE

Police of Hull said that at 1:20 a. m. a radio cruiser car crew saw a car standing before the Orler cottage in Beach ave., Kenberma, in a section where Orler had been a summer resident for 25 years.

There was a light in the cottage, the officers said in reporting the number of the car to Hull police headquarters. The number was checked and when the car was found to be registered to Orler, police paid no more attention to the matter.

Little more than five hours later, or shortly before 7 o'clock, Mate Grindle came out on deck aboard the Mayflower and saw the top of a car protruding from the water on the ebb tide. The tide then had been running out since the morning full at 3:55.

He called police, who found that about 20 feet of fence along the retaining wall had been ripped away as the car was driven off the wall.

TWO ACQUITTED

Orler was a State st. broker in 1921 when he was indicted for alleged larcenies involving $40,000.

Indicted with him were an employe and a woman crystal gazer, the latter allegedly having influenced a Boston widow, Mrs. Emma A. Clark, to turn over valuable stocks to Orler in exchange for worthless stocks.

The employe and the crystal gazer were acquitted, but Orler was found guilty by a jury and sentenced to two years. On restitution arrangements and through carrying the case to higher courts, however, it dragged on until 1925, when Orler finally escaped with a $300 fine and an agreement that a decree against him for $25,000 be entered in a civil suit.

His latest tangle with the courts came last year in Brighton and Athol. In the latter jurisdiction he was held for the Middlesex County grand jury on six counts of obtaining $4750 under false pretenses from Miss Charlena Powers of South Athol.

In Brighton he was charged specifically with larceny of $2100 from Mrs. Elizabeth H. Castles of Orkney rd., Brighton, and was held for the grand jury.

Subsequently, however, he was indicted for alleged larcenies totaling $17,000, including that from Mrs. Castles. The other losers are named as Joseph French, Ellen A. Martin, Owen F. Oakes, Marion A. Horton, Mary E. Clasby and Carolina C. Siebeneicher.

'KIDDIE' SQUAD SHAMES HARVARD STARLET RIOT

Harvard students were pretty well chagrined today to learn that it was the Cambridge police juvenile delinquency squad that was assigned to break up what the adolescents apparently thought was a quite funny old fruit barrage prior to the Lampoon dance.

The hurling of overripe fruit, decayed vegetables, general garbage and empty beer cans spoiled the visit of Marjorie Woodworth, film starlet, who had been invited to come here and attend the party.

But the blonde former drum majorette at the University of Southern California was gracious enough to make no complaint as she left Boston, although she had been compelled once to retreat from Cambridge to her Boston hotel as a result of the ruckus.

REPORTED TO ADULTS

Police, in their practice of dealing with juveniles, said they made no arrests, but merely noted the identities of certain students collared and then reported them to the adults in whose temporary custody they are.

If the finish of her expected happy party lack the Harvard polish the film starlet had expected, her entrance into Boston lacked nothing.

She dashed down the steps of a Pullman at South Station and awarded President Coles Phinizy and John Clark, 3d, of the Lampoon staff with little cheek kisses. Later she went to dinner with Phinizy, and, still later, attended the Lampoon dance without the annual kidnap stunt.

Klondike Kate To Step Yukon Way for Films

HOLLYWOOD, May 16 (AP)—Klondike Kate, belle of the Yukon during the gold rush, is here to put the movies right about dance hall girls of that era.

The former dancer of Dawson and Fairbanks, at 60 is Mrs. Kate Rockwell Matson of Bend, Ore. She married John Matson, her present husband, in 1933.

"The dance hall girls in those days wore high-necked shirtwaists, high-button shoes and skirts down to the ground, as well as wrist-length sleeves," she said.

Daughter of a Spokane judge, Mrs. Matson went to Dawson in 1500 disguised as a boy. She joined a vaudeville troupe and remained two years.

After the show, she explained, the girls mingled with the sourdoughs at a dollar a dance. Drinks for the couple and a 25 per cent cut to the girl went with each dance. Barkeeps usually served tea to the girls.

"We danced like ladies—square dances and waltzes and things like that," Mrs. Matson said. "On the stage we wore tights."

Girl Under Knife, Then Dons Finery And Weds in Bed

SALISBURY, N. C., May 16 (AP)—Love laughs at hospitals as well as locksmiths.

When Miss Martha Frances Fowler was stricken with appendicitis four days before the date set for her marriage to Ralph L. Ritchie, they didn't let that interfere.

She was married in her hospital bed with her bridal costume on, flowers and all.

BABY BORN AFTER DEATH OF MOTHER

LEOMINSTER, May 16—A baby boy born in a split-second race against death which claimed its mother seven minutes before delivery was pronounced in excellent health with a perfectly normal chance for life at Leominster Hospital today.

In 40 drama-packed minutes, Mrs. Leopold Rocheleau was stricken with convulsions at her home, arrived at the hospital unconscious a half hour later, died three minutes after admission, and the child was delivered seven minutes after her death.

The boy weighs six pounds and eight ounces and is perfectly normal. It is the seventh child born to the Rocheleaus, who live in Sixth st. The father is a machinist with a local firm.

Dr. Albert Mainville was awakened in the pre-dawn by Rocheleau who drove frantically to the physician's home in Marion ave. to tell him his expectant wife was seized with convulsions, later diagnosed as the result of cerebral hemorrhages.

As the unconscious woman was carried to a prepared operating table, Dr. Mainville tried vainly to save her, then from her dead body removed the child. It did not breathe normally for 40 minutes, but in a few hours was reported "doing nicely."

Ex-Court Aide Found Dead in Canal

The body of William E. Summers, 71, retired Somerville courthouse custodian, who had been missing since Sunday, was recovered today from the Broad canal, Cambridge, by Metropolitan police officers.

Since his retirement from the courthouse Summers had been employed on the lightship Relief, tied up in the canal.

Ceiling on Prices Aim of F. D. in New Legislation

WASHINGTON, May 16 (INS)—President Roosevelt said today he has under study legislation designed to put a ceiling on prices.

By next week, the President told his press conference, he expects specific reports on the matter.

Leon Henderson, in charge of the defense agency watching price levels, has been working on the idea of legislation that would give his office more authority.

It Can Happen Here! Ice Truck Burns Up

It was something of a surprise today for Wilfred M. Butcher to find that an ice truck—of all things!—can catch on fire.

Butcher, an ice truck driver for the Milton Ice Co., parked his truck in Washington st., Codman sq., Dorchester, today and left to make some deliveries.

He returned to find his truck merrily blazing.

Into a pile of rubbish under the truck some passerby had tossed a match, firemen said. Damage was estimated at $300.

PRICES STILL SOARING, DESPITE McBRIDE'S NO

Housewives are complaining that nearly every time they go shopping for home necessities, the prices of sugar, eggs, butter, pork and other commodities have advanced a little more.

Motorists are complaining about repeated price boosts in gasoline. Today it was also announced that a rise of 1 cent a quart is imminent for milk.

But John P. McBride, director of the state division of the necessaries of life, today took issue with a report by the Labor Department at Washington that Boston is one of the "Big Four" in the list of high-cost-of-living cities.

FOURTH FROM LAST

McBride declared that Boston appeared fourth from the last in the cost of living in a group of 55 cities throughout the country.

Then, however, he admitted that his figures were only as of March 15. The Labor Department's figures carry through April, including the six weeks of most noticeable price rise, at least in foodstuffs.

Although the Labor Department has the entire nation to cover and the Division of the Necessaries of Life has only one state, McBride said he would not have later figures for a week or 10 days yet, when his inspectors turn in reports.

He does know, however, that flour, pork and butter have gone up, he said, and explained that pork and butter are surplus commodities whose prices have been pegged by the federal government at the increased prices because of federal crop loans to farmers.

PROBE OF OIL

Meanwhile McBride has been directed by Gov. Saltonstall to continue his probe into increasing gasoline and fuel oil prices, and action also has been asked by the Governor from the fuel division of the Committee on Public Safety.

Reports indicate, the governor said, that low prices previously in effect here resulted from large surpluses in this area for export purposes. Now, he said, there is a shortage of tankers to bring the commodity here.

There was a half-cent boost in gasoline Tuesday, making a total increase of 2½ to 4 cents since January.

If milk producers are allowed to jump the price of that commodity, the new rate would be 14 cents a quart delivered and 13 cents at stores.

The milk price rise was predicted in Greater Boston by July 1 as a conference resumed today on proposed amendments to the milk marketing order in this section.

New England producers told Francis E. Hankes of Washington, who presided, that farm labor is more expensive because of the defense program and cost of farm machinery and gasoline, which have also gone up.

Other Woman, Loan to Hubby Linked in Suit

Citing an affair with another woman and loans of $600 and jewelry, Mrs. Alice E. Burke, Commonwealth ave., Back Bay, today sought a divorce in Suffolk Probate Court from William H. Burke, Miami Beach, Fla., physio-therapist.

In her suit, which was uncontested, she told Judge Robert Gardiner Wilson, Jr., that she was present in the courtroom when her husband was sentenced to the House of Correction on a charge involving a Roxbury woman.

Mrs. Burke also asked for support, even though the couple have no children. She based the request on the grounds that Burke had never repaid a $600 loan and had also failed to redeem jewelry, including her wedding ring, which she had given him to pawn when he needed money.

In the same session of the court Mrs. Martha V. R. Gianni of Commonwealth ave., Allston, testified in suing Nicola Gianni, Wellesley hair-dresser, for divorce on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, that her husband blamed her for the loss of his job.

Gen. Motors Boosts Wages, Averts Strike

By the Associated Press

A threatened strike against the General Motors Corp., holder of $750,000,000 in defense contracts, was averted today when the company accepted a National Mediation Board peace formula a few hours before the scheduled deadline for the walkout.

PASSED BAR—John Collins, 21, of Roxbury, who passed the bar examination held in February, will be one of the eligibles to be considered for admission to the Massachusetts bar.

The board tentatively scratched another labor dispute off its books with word of union acceptance of terms to settle a strike at the Ex-Cell-O Corp., Detroit die and tool plant.

The General Motors settlement provided a flat wage increase of 10 cents an hour for an estimated 250,000 workers in 89 plants, and for no closed shop, union shop or maintenance-of-membership shop.

Under a new contract to run one year from April 28, 1941, the company agreed not to lock out its employes, and to give consideration to seniority in making promotions.

The corporation estimated the wage increases would add $50,000,000 annually to its payroll.

The CIO United Automobile Workers orginally had called a strike against 60 General Motors plants for 7 a. m. Thursday, but postponed the deadline for 24 hours at the mediation board's request. Nevertheless, more than 35,000 GM employes walked out at Flint and Saginaw, Mich., yesterday—a result, the union said, of a misunderstanding.

Detroit, however, was experiencing other labor disputes. Some 8500 CIO-UAW members struck against the Hudson Motor Co., asking 15 cents an hour increase.

There were labor troubles too in San Francisco, and far to the west of the Golden Gate, at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. Labor Secretary Perkins denounced a strike of CIO and A. F. of L. machinists which is holding up $500,000,000 worth of naval construction in the San Francisco Bay area. The machinists seek a wage increase from $1 to $1.15 an hour, with double pay for overtime.

There was a brief stoppage on construction projects at the Pearl Harbor Naval reservation yesterday, but a union official said it was "definitely not a strike." The demonstration appeared to have been an effort to gain uniform wage and hour scales.

All went back to work except 230 plumbers, who were escorted off the reservation by marines. The plumbers were working 44 hours a week for private contractors and were being paid $1.25 to $1.50 an hour. They wanted a 40-hour week and $1.50 an hour for all.

At New Haven, Ct., the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. granted all employes a 10 per cent wage increase shortly after 250 employes in two departments staged a short work stoppage. The old wage scale was from 45 cents to $1.20 an hour.

Marines Balk Sit-Down Strike

HONOLULU, May 16 (AP)—A sit-down stoppage at Oahu Island defense projects ended before the workmen had time to sit down—except for 230 plumbers who were escorted from the Pearl Harbor naval reservation by U. S. marines.

The unions—both A. F. of L. and CIO—had planned a huge demonstration of 16,000 men to show the Five Companies affiliated with contractors, their dissatisfaction with wages and hours. A union official issued a statement beforehand saying the work stoppage would not be a strike and would be only temporary.

He was right about the time element. When the sit-down hour came, the plumbers and a good many other workmen put down their tools. The plumbers, generally credited with engineering the move, began giving voice to their demands for more money and shorter hours.

When the plumbers laid down their tools, Marines escorted them out of the navy yard and took away their passes.

The rest of the workmen—few had a chance to sit down—watched the plumbers being removed. For a moment they appeared undecided. Then they took up their tools and resumed work.

CRASH VICTIM DIES

Injured when his cab was in collision with another car at Walnut and Medford sts., Somerville, on Sunday, Nov. 17, William L. Linsenmeyer, 43, of 20 Sunset rd., Somerville, died today at the Chelsea Naval Hospital.

'Indecent' Pair Get Probation

Sentences totaling two and one-half years were imposed today in East Cambridge court, and then suspended, against Louis Kemper, 30, charged with having indecent pictures in his possession and being indecent in speech and behavior.

His extremely pretty wife, Mary, 24, was placed on probation on the charge of being indecent in speech and behavior.

Still photographs, with his wife as the subject, were found, police testified, when they raided Kemper's apartment yesterday in the Massachusetts ave. apartment house where he is janitor.

F. D.'s Pet Dog Is Elected Chief Barker for Britain

NEW YORK, May 16 (INS)—President Roosevelt's pet Scotty, Falla, today was chosen president of "Barkers for Britain," an organization of dogs affiliated with bundles for Britain to encourage dog lovers to contribute to British war relief by buying metal tags to be attached to canine collars. The first tag has been mailed to the White House and other tags, at 50 cents each, are scheduled to go on immediate sale throughout the country.

Dr. Carrel Feared Held

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Dr. Alexis Carrel, 67, Rockefeller Institute scientist, is being detained in occupied France "so that country can have the advantage of his knowledge in matters of child nutrition," James Wood Johnson said.

Johnson, organizer of the American Volunteers' Ambulance Corps, who accompanied Dr. Carrel to Europe Feb. 1, said the scientist apparently knew he might not be given a pass to leave the country when he entered it April 7 to see his sick wife in Brittany.

Johnson said Dr. Carrel was to meet him in New York yesterday "and he warned me that if he failed to keep the appointment it would be because he had been prevented from leaving occupied France."

SOLONS SIT FOR INCREASE OF SALARIES

Though a militantly economical legislative ways and mans committee had already shied more than $2,000,000 from Governor Saltonstall's biennial budget, it was revealed today that the salaries of legislators will be recommended for an increase—50 cent—a $280,000 total addition.

The committee has been working on the record-high biennial figure of $184,000,000 for weeks, and was expected to be finished in a few days.

Most cointroversial item still being discussed was the governor's request for three bond issues, totalling $4,200,000, of which only one, a $2,400,000 issue to build a new state hospital for the criminal insane, was given a chance to survive.

It was learned today that the committee was including an appropriation that would pay members of the legislature an additional $500 for expenses this year and $500 salary for the off year of the biennial.

This would give each legislator a total of $3000 for the two-year term, plus travel allowance. Legislation to increase the salaries two years ago was vetoed by Saltonstall and the veto upheld by the Senate.

This year the increase is being backed by the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Ass'n, that opposed it in 1939, and by organized labor.

British Cruiser Damaged, Rome Says

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—A heavy British cruiser and two destroyers, convoying three merchant ships, was "successfully attacked" by Italian bombers southwest of the Dodecanese island of Caso, Stefani, Italian news agency, said today.

Knox Sees U. S. In Grave Danger

NEWPORT, R. I., May 16 (INS)—Alluding to the new "collaboration" age between France and Germany, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox today departed from his prepared address at graduation exercises at the naval war college to warn of "the mortal danger of our country in this moment of history."

Knox, who had said in interviews he thought the Nazis had made Marshal Petain "jump the whip" and then had reviewed 2100 officers and sailors in full dress, presented diplomas to 23 officers of the 56th graduating class.

Before returning to Washington tomorrow he will inspect for the first time the $28,000,000 new naval air station at Quonset Point.

At the end of his prepared address Knox said:

"In the last 36 hours of the world situation another change—what appears to be complete subjugation of what was once a great nation—appears to be accomplished.

"It's utterly impossible to exaggerate the mortal danger of our country in this moment of history. Beyond a shadow of doubt our people are incurably, irrevocably committed to a policy of human freedom—liberty."

BERNICE M. CASEY

The annual reunion of the Graduates Ass'n of State Teachers College, Lowell, to be held at the Copley Plaza tomorrow, Saturday, May 17, will have Miss Bernice M. Casey of 82 Larchwood dr., Cambridge, as honorary chairman.

Bay State Seeks 773 Air Cadets

Anticipating the opening Monday of "Flying Cadet Week," more than 200 young men have already applied from Greater Boston to take "refresher courses" for the August examination for the Army air corps flying schools, the N. E. flying cadet committee announced today.

During next week the committee will seek to recruit 1500 applicants throughout New England. Massachusetts' quota will be 773.

Lieut.-Gov. Cahill and Mayor Tobin will speak at a mass meeting on Boston Common Monday noon. Wednesday Mayor Tobin will tender a luncheon in the Hotel Kenmore to members of the N. E. committee and to mayors of N. E. cities where airports are located.

WAR IN NEAR EAST—Nazi-Vichy understanding brings quick action in the Near East, and German bombers and fighters are moved (1) into Syria and Iraq by way of Greek bases and Dodecanese Islands, after Axis raid on Crete (2). Meanwhile, reports told of Russian "volunteer" fliers entering Iraq (3) to help fight the British, as Royal Air Forces planes bombed Amara (4).

HINT U. S. MAY SEIZE FRENCH ISLAND, GOLD

dicated Petain had agreed to collaborate with Germany.

Askedw hether his statement last night—expressing the hope the French people would not accept the new collaboration agreement—was intended to reach the French nation over the head of the Vichy government, he said his statement spoke for itself.

When he was first asked whether he thought the naval patrol system successful, the President replied by asking "How old is Ann?"

He then explained that such questions were matters of curent action and could not be discussed in hypothetical terms—and glittering generalities.

MAY SEIZE ISLE, GOLD

On other government fronts, however, it appeared that in addition to abandoning plans for wheat shipments, further retaliatory steps are in the making.

As a further gesture of American disapproval of what officials regarded as Marshal Petain's "sellout" to the Germans, Secretary Hull may soon order the recall of Ambassador Leahy.

The State Department also is considering the future status of the French West Indies island of Martinique, where 110 American-made warplanes are lying idle and $60,000,000 worth of French gold is stored.

If control of France falls completely into the hands of Germany under the new "collaboration" agreement the American government will sponsor joint Pan-American action to take over control of the island.

French sovereignty of the possession will be guaranteed pending the outcome of the war, but armed American, and possibly Latin-American, forces will be established there to make certain that neither the planes nor the gold get into German hands and to prevent the island from being used as a Nazi base of operations in the Western Hemisphere.

Defending Marshal Petain's decision to collaborate with Germany, French Ambassador Gaston Henri-Haye declared that his people "have found a great leader behind whom they are standing united despite any attempt at dissidence manifested abroad."

Commenting on President Roosevelt's denunciation of France's action, Henri-Haye said the French are "wholly confident of the wisdom and high patriotism of Marshal Petain."

MAY MOVE ON DAKAR

If the French government's collaboration with Germany proves as complete as American officials fear it will on the basis of diplomatic reports from Vichy, the State Department also intends to give serious consideration to the possibility of Anglo-American action to prevent the French West African port of Dakar being used as a Nazi naval and air base.

Authoritative quarters said it was Dakar to which President Roosevelt was chiefly referring when he mentioned 'n his statement last night the "menace" that German occupation of the "French African colonies and their Atlantic coasts" would involve "to the peace and safety of the Western Hemisphere."

The Coast Guard's boarding of the ships, including the giant luxury liner Normandie in New York, and issuance of President Roosevelt's statement vigorously condemning the new collaboration agreement was decided upon at a White House conference late yesterday afternoon.

BERLIN OUTSKIRTS HIT BY BRITISH AIR RAIDERS

BERLIN, May 16 (AP)—A number of explosive incendiary bombs were dropped on the outskirts of Berlin last night by British air raiders but they did no military damage, the official German news agency, DNB, said today.

Heavy anti-aircraft fire was credited with keeping the British planes away from the heart of the city.

Other British raiders were reported to have attacked north German cities, causing some damage. At least one raider was said to have been downed.

Five British planes were downed yesterday during raids in Helgoland Bight and along the French coast and two others were smashed on the ground during Nazi night attacks on air bases in England, the Germans asserted.

Light German combat planes attacked British speedboats in the English channel, setting one afire, and Stukas damaged two 8000-ton vessels in a convoy south of Crete, while a 10,000-tonner suffered such heavy damage that loss was assumed, they added.

Small forces of the Luftwaffe also were reported to have attacked harbors in Scotland.

Luca airport on the island of Malta was bombed again during the night while Stuka planes battered a British convoy south of Crete, inflicting damage on several ships, the Germans said.

Loss of four of the attacking planes was acknowledged.

Many fires were said to have been started in the industrial section of Hannover.

Berlin, Hannover Lashed in RAF Raids

LONDON, May 16 (AP)—Strong forces of RAF bombers attacked Hannover last night, starting large fires in industrial quarters. Other big British warplanes attacked Berlin, Hamburg, Cuxhaven, Calais, Boulogne and Dieppe, the air ministry said today.

Coastal command bombers raided docks and shipping at St. Nazaire and the big German submarine base at Lorient, in France. They also attacked docks at Ijmuiden, the Netherlands, a communique said.

Hess Papers Studied for Flight Motive

the Duke of Hamilton, famous British sportsman and RAF officer who interviewed the former No. 3 Hitler henchman within 48 hours after he parachuted to earth near the Duke's Scottish ancestral estate.

Immediately after landing at a London airdrome, the Duke and Kirkpatrick were reported to have conferred behind locked doors with Prime Minister Churchill.

This dramatic development occurred as the British nation debated the expressed belief of Labor Minister Ernest Bevin that Hess is a "murderer" who came to Britain on a lethal mission with the full knowledge of Hitler.

Later it was reported the Duke of Hamilton may prepare a written document regarding Hess and the conversations he has held with the Nazi prisoner since the latter confused the world by parachuting from a Messerschmitt to Scottish soil.

Meanwhile, the objects of the British government appeared to be three-fold: First, to establish the truth regarding Hess and his flight from the Reich; second, to extract every possible scrap of valuable information from him, and third, to use the "Hess affair" to create confusion and disaffection in Germany.

At the retreat where he is held Hess is under heavy guard.

F. D. Flouts Red Sea Warning

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt injected today into a discussion of Germany's declaration that the Red Sea will be a danger zone for foreign ships a pointed reminder that wice before in history the United States had used her warships to protect her commerce and obtain freedom of the seas.

He mentioned the action of the new American republic against the Barbary pirates in the Mediterranean a century ago and naval action as well against privateers in the Caribbean.

SOLONS PRAISE HEARST 'I'M AMERICAN DAY' FETE

Special to the Boston Evening American

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 16—By a unanimous vote the Illinois House of Representatives was on record today commending the mammoth patriotic celebration of "I Am an American" Day, to be held Sunday in Soldier Field, Chicago, in honor of those who have arrived at the age of citizenship and newly-naturalized citizens.

The resolution, submitted by Rep. Roland Libonati (D) of Chicago, urges that all citizens take part in the great patriotic demonstration.

It was put to a vote by Speaker Elmer J. Schnackenberg and was passed by a voice vote, following the adoption of a motion by Libonati to suspend the rules, enabling immediate action.

"DEEP APPRECIATION"

The resolution expresses "deep appreciation of the efforts of William Randolph Hearst and the Chicago Herald-American" sponsoring the big celebration in Chicago. It reads as follows:

"Whereas, the President of the United States, the Governor of the State of Illinois, the Mayor of the City of Chicago, and the commanders of American Legion Department of Illinois and Cook County Council, have proclaimed Sunday, May 18, 1941, as "I Am an American" Day;

Whereas, this day is being set apart to celebrate the coming into citizenship of those who but recently attained their 21st birthday and those who have been naturalized during the year;

Whereas, the march of totalitarianism during the past year has made more apparent than ever the privileges inherent in such citizenship;

Whereas, in these days of world crisis, it is especially fitting to stress our pride in being citizens of the United States, where men are governed by their own laws;

"PROGRESSIVE AMERICANISM"

Whereas, the distinguished patriot, William Randolph Hearst, through the Chicago Herald-Examiner, has shown his progressive Americanism by enthusiastically sponsoring "I Am an American Day" in the city of Chicago;

Whereas, the Chicago Herald-American has planned a gigantic program which will undoubtedly rank as the Mid-West's most colorful patriotic spectacle; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the 62d General Assembly of the State of Illinois that we do hereby express our deep appreciation of the efforts of William Randolph Hearst and the Chicago Herald-Examiner in sponsoring and supporting "I Am an American" Day in the city of Chicago; and further exhort the citizenry to view this stimulating and patriotic demonstration; and be it further

Resolved, that copies of this preamble and resolution be forwarded to Mr. Hearst and the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

EARL OF LIVERPOOL DIES

LONDON, May 16 (AP)—The Earl of Liverpool, 70, governor of New Zealand from 1912 to 1917 and governor-general from 1917 to 1920, died yesterday at his home near London.

Koussevitzky To Conduct on Patriotic Day

Dr. Serge Koussevitzky, famed conductor of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, struck a dramatic note in patriotism today as he offered to conduct the full orchestra as part of the colorful program marking "I Am an American Day" Sunday.

Dr. Serge Koussevitzky

"This is my contribution of gratitude in recognition of becoming a citizen," Dr. Koussevitzky said, in announcing the concert. "I feel that I owe this to Boston and to this country."

The celebration, Mayor Tobin declared, will be the outstanding patriotic event in any city in the country in observance of the day. To allow for wider attendance, it will be held at the Hatch Memorial shell on the Esplanade and not, as first scheduled, at the Fenway Stadium.

The program is being prepared by hundreds of patriotic, fraternal and civic organizations in co-operation with 60 professional stage performers and radio stars. It will be, the city's Americanization bureau promises, the largest-scale demonstration of patriotism ever held in Boston.

Prominent speakers will include Mayor Tobin, Sen. David I. Walsh and John Mulcahey of the United States Department of Immigration and Naturalization. Frank Flanagan, director of the Bureau of Americanization, will be chairman of the celebration.

FRENCH HELP NAZI RUSH INTO SYRIA

were reported landing at Syrian airfields. Reuters said its information came from an independent French news agency.

Foreign reports that German tanks were crossing Syria bound for Iraq were not immediately confirmed. Similar reports in Istanbul, Turkey, however, said one or two German air squadrons landed in Syria and light tanks had arrived.

Britain's hold on the sea lanes of the Eastern Mediterranean make it improbable, some sources thought, that any Nazi forces had been disembarked from ships on the Syrian coast.

Military circles, however, regarded it as likely that the Germans might be flying light tanks and light guns by planes as they did in Libya.

MAY USE GREEK BASES

If they are using Greek bases, these sources pointed out, a probable route would be by way of the Italian island of Rhodes in the Dodecanese group to the inland city of Aleppo, a distance of about 850 miles.

They said the Germans were not likely to use the longer, more dangerous sea routes to the ports of Tripoli and Beirut, exposing their transports to interception from the British held island of Cyprus, which stands outside those harbors off the Syrian coast.

Informed sources in Cairo said yesterday the Germans probably got their equipment into Syria by air and sea from Italy's Dodecanese Islands, 450 miles away in the Mediterranean.

German air-borne propagandists, technicians and similar Axis specialists were declared by the British yesterday already to be in Iraq — a token of greater infiltration to be expected.

The French agency described all this German activity as amounting to the occupation of Syria.

There were indications that the British government was gravely concerned at the swiftly moving developments, but an authorized source asserted the situation in Iraq "can be taken care of and will be handled all right."

Whether Britain had put these words into action was not learned, but a neutral report yesterday from [illegible] said RAF machines [illegible] one Syrian airdrome.

Weidlein of OPM Tells Hub of Vast Defense Job

"Because of research activities during the past 20 years, we will be able to protect our country successfully," Dr. Edward Ray Weidlein, chief of the Chemical and Allied Products Section of the Office of Production Management, assured businessmen of Boston today.

"The problems confronting our group are minor compared to the conditions we faced in 1917," he told members of the Chamber of Commerce at the "Research Day" luncheon.

Dr. Weidlein, director of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, Pittsburgh, added the warning:

"Let us not overlook for a moment the gigantic, the almost alarming dimensions of the job cut out for us."

LISTS DEFENSE PLANS

Itemizing defense program findings in the chemical field, he told the Chamber:

"The petroleum industry has been and in our opinion will be able to supply every foreseeable demand for petroleum and its products without requiring any government funds or advance contracts.

"There seems to be no probable necessity for civilian curtailment.

"Toluol could be increased by 100,000,000 gallons annually. We feel assured of an ample supply of this very essential material.

"We are accumulating a stock pile of purified linter pulp of sufficient size to run the munitions plants now operating or under construction for several months.

NITROGEN IS PROBLEM

"The nitrogen problem is the most serious one we have had to face but throughout 1941 we will be able to meet all the demands of the defense program together with the needs of industries and agriculture.

"We found production facilities for activated carbon of the type suited for gas masks are entirely adequate to satisfy the Chemical Warfare Service.

"We have accumulated large stores of important drug materials and have at hand two or three years supply of important drugs.

"The entire military activities of Germany and Italy, plus the industrial and other activities of these countries and the occupied areas of Western Europe, are being carried on with an amount of petroleum plus synthetic products which is only about 5 per cent of our present domestic production."

Tells Congress Fair Tax Plan

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) William J. Kelly, president of the Machinery and Allied Products Institute, proposed today that Congress take these steps to correct what he termed "the great unfairness in the present distribution of the tax burden":

1—Permit carryover of net losses for at least six years instead of two as at present.

2—Increase corporate normal income tax rates but retain present excess profits rates.

3—Change the base rates for computation of the excess profits tax credit fro mthe present 1936 to 1939 period to 1935-1939, with the option of selecting any three of the five years as a base.

4—Permit the unused excess profits tax credit to be carried forward at least six years, instead of the present two.

NOTABLES MOURN AT ROGERS' RITES

Men renowned in the worlds of the arts and education today attended funeral services held in Christ Church, Cambridge, for Prof. Robert E. Rogers of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Prof. Rogers, widely known as a teacher, lecturer and writer, and at one time author of a column in the Boston Evening American, died at his Brattle st., Cambridge home, last Tuesday.

The list of honorary pall bearers at his funeral today included Lee Simonson of the New York Theater Guild; Eric Hodgings, publisher of Fortune Magazine; Walter Lippman, famed newspaper columnist, and fellow educators.

The phrase "Be a snob—it's just as easy to marry the boss' daughter as a stenographer," brought the 53-year-old professor to nation-wide attention.

Later, in his column in the American, he continued to offer practical advice on current problems. He was a graduate of Harvard University, tried his hand in the newspaper and theatrical world, then went to Tech. His English course there was one of the most popular in the college.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Marie Leahy Baer Rogers.

LAWRENCE JOB-SELLING PROBE IN CLIMAX

NEWBURYPORT, May 16—Headed by Lawrence's Mayor Walter A. Griffin, the final parade of witnesses today appeared before an Essex County grand jury nearing the end of its probe into alleged job selling and relief exploitation in Lawrence.

Asst. Atty.-Gen. Frank G. Volpe, assigned by Atty.-Gen. Robert T. Bushnell to direct the probe, indicated the grand jury would make its report late today or Monday.

Fifteen witnesses were scheduled to be heard during the day, including two physicians, Dr. Frank McCarthy, now a Navy medical officer assigned to the Portsmouth Navy Yard, and Dr. [illegible] F. Seccareccio, both of Lawrence.

Meanwhile, Judge Felix Forte of Superior Court, presiding in a nearby courtroom, ordered Public Safety Commissioner T. F. Galvin and Atty. William P. Reilley, his campaign manager, to stand trial May 26

Croats to Offer Crown To King Victor of Italy

ROME, May 16 (AP)—Restoration of a Croatian monarchy under Italian sponsorship, with a likelihood that the crown would be offered to Italy's King Vittorio Emanuele III, has been announced officially.

Reports from Budapest said a Croat delegation would arrive today or tomorrow in Rome to offer the crown of Zvonimir, ancient symbol of Croat kingship, to the king.

There was speculation that he might refuse the crown for himself but designate another of the princes of Savoy, either the Duke of Spoleto or the Duke of Aosta, to accept it.

Croatia broke away from Yugoslavia during the Balkan warfare last month to form an independent nation and since has been under military rule.

The crown of Zvonimir is a golden circlet with a wreath of golden clover leaves surmounted by an apple and a cross. It was bestowed on Tomislav in 925 A. D., after he had been elected Croatia's first king.

3 Malden Boys Hurt in Crash

Three Malden youths were injured today in an auto crash on Lawrence st., Medford, and a fire department rescue squad was forced to cut one of the victims free from the wreckage.

The car struck a pole, bounced back and overturned. Paul Powell, 24, of Washington st., Malden, and Philip McCarthy, 21, of Charles st., suffered bruises when they were thrown clear, but Robert Shea, 24, of Talbot st., Malden, was pinned underneath. He received arm cuts and bruises. All were removed to Malden Hospital.

Military Rites Held For Dr. L. V. Briggs

A large group of friends gathered at the Church of the Advent today to attend funeral services for Dr. L. Vernon Briggs, famous Boston psychiatrist who died recently in Tucson, Ariz. The Rev. Whitney Hall, pastor, was in charge of the rites.

Military honors were arranged for interment services at Center Hanover Cemetery by men of the Second Division Veterans' Association, with whom he served in the World War with the rank of colonel.

Chinese Smash Big Jap Army

CHUNGKING, May 16 (AP) — More than 50 Japanese planes attacked this Chinese capital today in the fourth raid of the bombing season which opened May 3.

The government news agency, Central News, reported that the Japanese had suffered a disastrous defeat in Hupeh province, with 10,000 killed or captured in various sectors during 10 days of fighting. It said the Japanese had been driven back to their bases in north, central and western Hupeh, from which they began their offensive against Chinese forces May 5.

These bases included Yingshan, in northern Hupeh; Chunghsiang in central, and Ichang in western Hupeh.

Court Sticks Hundreds $5 in Sticker Session

Several hundred auto drivers and owners discovered today that it costs $5 to be charged in Brighton court with operating a car without a sticker.

In a sticker session presided over by Judge Thumas H. Connelly the motorists were the only ones stuck as Metropolitan and Brighton police and Registry inspectors charged them with violating the law.

One driver plaintively told the court the day he was stopped in Brighton he had an appointment in Watertown. So he drove on to Watertown, where he was stopped again for the same offense.

He told the court it cost him $3 for the Watertown charge. So Judge Connelly, in order to even matters off, fined hi monly $2.

A husband and wife appeared together, he the owner, she the driver.

When asked who was going to pay, owner or operator, they pointed to each other. Hubby paid.

Arresting officers said it is a criminal offense in Massachusetts to fail to obtain a sticker by May 1.

U. S. Army Fliers To Be Air Traffic Cops in Big March

FT. LEWIS, Wash., May 16 (AP)—The 91st and 116th Observation Squadrons will act as aerial traffic cops for a six-day movement of 3500 Army vehicles from here to California for war games next week.

Planes will fly along the highways advising commanders by radio of any danger points or traffic jams. Officers said they believed the aerial traffic control never had been used on so large a scale previously.

3 Sleepy Boys 'Bold Burglars'

On a call that burglars were operating in a Brighton ave. office building, Brighton police today tiptoed in and shot their flashlights on—three very frightened small boys "camping out" for the night.

Huddled in a corner half asleep, with a commissary consisting of a bottle of milk and some bread, the youngsters explained to Sergt William McLeary that they had run away from their homes, but with this scare they would be mighty glad to go back.

The boys were Matthew Hardiman, 12, of Lothrop st., Brighton, and his brother, Williams, 10; and Walter Fitzpatrick, 14.

Fighting Ninth Dance Tonight

The famous old Fighting Ninth, which is the present 101st Infantry of the Yankee Division at Camp Edwards will hold a military ball at the Copley Plaza Hotel tonight.

Col. Paul G. Kirk and his staff will be the guests of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Associate Members of the 101st Infantry at the ball.

Governor Saltonstall, Mayor Tobin, representatives of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps are among the invited guests.

Non-commissioned officers of the 101st Infantry will act as ushers. Entertainment will feature Harriet Hoctor, well-known danseuse; Raymond Pike, famous juggler and many others.

Officers of the auxiliary are Mrs. John G. Downing, president; Mrs. James P. O'Hare, secretary and Mrs. Edward F. Goode, treasurer.

Devens Stages Review; Edwards Has Mock War

Action, snappy and colorful, marked the Bay State's military front today.

At Ft. Devens, some 15,000 men of the First Division were staging a review and parade by way of rehearsing for an official review to be held there next week.

Roads in the vicinity of the post parade ground were blocked off by military police while the entire division, for the first time in years, gathered for a single demonstration at the fort.

At Camp Edwards, they were engaged in "war." Some 600 peacetime soldiers of the 182d Infantry and machine gun companies were slated to defend against a "blitz" attack of planes, tanks and artillery in camp maneuvers.

SPACE IS SOUGHT

The high command at Camp Edwards expressed concern over the serious problem of finding adequate space on the shores of Cape Cod for swimming and beach recreation for the 26,000 YD soldiers in camp there, following breakdown of negotiations for privileges on Poponessett Beach on Vineyard Sound.

It was announced that negotiations with property owners on the beach, which is close enough and good enough to provide recreational facilities for the boys, had been discontinued on the question of cost.

The Recreation Division however, planning beach sports as the main diversion of the boys for the summer, have secured Scussett Beach, containing 100 acres at Sagamore and may recommend building of a road to Hog Island Dyke, in Buzzards Bay, already owned by the government.

OFFICERS PROMOTED

Promotion of four commissioned officers and elevation of six sergeants to the rank of second lieutenant were announced. First Lieutenants Henry B. Shea, Walpole, 51st Inf. Brigade and William Alexander Callanan, East Boston, 101st Inf. were promoted to captain; Second Lieutenants Paul G. Counihan, Cambridge, 101st Field Artillery and John F. Casey Jr., Brighton, 180th Field Artillery, to first lieutenant.

Sergeants promoted to rank of second lieutenant were Charles E. Lauriat, Brookline, 101st Engineers; Francis J. Gallagher, Scituate Ordnance Co.; Alfred R. Doig, Dedham, 180th Field Artillery; Fred A. Newcomb, Brookline, 180th Field Artillery; Harry M. Carnevale, Chicopee Falls, 104th Infantry.

SWEETHEART—The honor of being named the official "sweetheart" of the Communications Platoon, 124th Cavalry, U. S. Army, today was Screen Singer Judy Garland's.

Crockery, Sheets at Cape Shock Dowd, Oldest Vet

CAMP EDWARDS, May 16—Deputy Sheriff Daniel Dowd, 79, oldest veteran of the Yankee Division, came to camp today to visit his nephew—but not on the old white mare it has been his wont to ride from his Woodstock, Vt., home to far-away YD conventions.

He came by automobile. Chided about this, he said:

"Well, you know the old white mare ain't what she used to be."

Shown around the camp by his nephew, Pvt. John J. Glynn of C Co., 101st Engineers, Dowd was amazed.

"Eating out of crockery instead of mess kits," he commented, "sleeping between laundered sheets—Times have changed. But good luck to the boys."

He enlisted at the age of 55, "without his father's consent."

Originally he joined the Fighting 9th Regiment in 1882 and saw service at the Mexican border.

GIRL WHO FOUND $7500, UNNOTICED BY CROWDS FOR 15 MINUTES, GETS $1000 REWARD

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—For 15 minutes during the lunch hour last week pedestrians kicked around two packages on the sidewalk at Fifth ave. and 34th st., one of the busiest intersections in the city.

Finally along came Kathryn Los, an $18-a-week clerk, brooding over the loss of some money and jewelry. She saw the packages, picked them up, found they contained $5000 and $2500, respectively, in $100 bills. She turned her find over to a policeman.

Persons all over the city, reading about the case in the newspapers, claimed the money. Each claim was investigated and found false.

Then Edward S. Dunn, a real estate broker, proved he had lost the money en route from one bank to another and revealed that another $3000 remained in his pocket.

He gave Miss Los a $1000 reward and when they compared notes discovered that 15 minutes had elapsed between the losing and the finding of the money.

Our Austen Lake in England

By AUSTEN LAKE
(STAFF REPORTER BOSTON AMERICAN)
(Copyright, 1941)

ON BOARD CONVOY FROM ENGLAND, May—This was the long-deferred moment! Today our convoy reached the oceanic crossroads, the Julep falling astern with idling engines, then veering sharply northwest, as the fleet sailed on. There was no ceremony. It was like a cowhand cutting a maverick from the herd and leading it off.

The morning was mild and opalescent, with cauliflower-shaped clouds and a light haze, as we watched the fleet of Balkan-bound ships bearing 2000 soldiers and civilians fade gradually into gray outlines, like a child's cardboard cutouts—growing fainter and smaller, until there was nothing.

It was like parting with good companions, knowing we would never meet again and knowing, too, that many in those mustard-colored ranks who had waved adieu, would never see England again. The misty veil into which they sailed was symbolic of life. Beyond the horizon, Fate lay in ambush like a predatory beast.

FRISKING ON THE WAVE

Close in the wake of a single battleship, headed, we heard, for refitting in Brooklyn's Navy Yard, the Julep picked up speed, shaking spume from her bows like a towseled terrier. We were no longer fettered by the slowness of the two tank-bearing freighters.

It was like the release of two kennel-cramped hounds, the battleship sometimes frisking ahead in swift, 30-knot sprints, sometimes falling abreast a scant 100 yards distance, and sometimes dropping astern. They were, to our lay, non-nautical minds, merely coy and meaningless capers.

Strange thing! We of the Julep, bound by the ties of mutual danger, had pledged continuance of shipboard friendships after landing, and had formed a serio-comic fraternity which embraced the lofty and lowly. The American ferry-transport pilots started it, circulating a scroll among "selected eligibles" which pledged the signatories to keep future contacts. It had started in fun, but, as the voyage dragged on, it became serious. Printed copies of the roster, with names and base addresses, would be mailed to all the signees. The motto, chosen by some Latin amateur, was "Semper idem"—always the same!

There was a pathetic something in the Julep's fraternity. For one knew, at the instant of landing, that we would scatter like autumn leaves, forgetting and foresaking brief acquaintanceship. It had happened thus on the outward-bound Dutchman, the air force ship which carried a cargo of post-adolescents and grizzled veterans from Halifax last month. They, too, had vowed eternal brotherhood. We would meet in London for a grand, final jamboree. The date was set. The place was the Regent Palace Hotel. Officers were elected and dues collected.

AT $200 A SHOT

But we never met! The "brotherhood" scattered, occupied with new interests and casting off the old like outworn garments. It was ever thus!

In late afternoon, the battleship held gun-crew practice, firing repeated salvos from her six-inch pieces on the starboard side, livid flashes and heavy reverberations which shook the Julep's woodwork, work.

There were no targets, just jets of water far out at sea where the shells hit, and other lesser geysers beyond where they ricocheted. Considering that each projectile cost more than $200 the 50 rounds fired seemed a woeful waste of money and munitions. But a Navy gunnery officer disagreed. Precision and instant action between firing tops and the gun turrets were vital, he said—teamwork between the battleship's brain and muscle.

SOUL-TICKLING MOMENT

At length on the morning of the third day we saw the first, low-lying smudge of land; the headlands of Nova Scotia and our comparatively peace-blessed continent. There was an internal soul-tickle in that moment. Immigrants feel it on first sight of Liberty's great metal effigy in New York harbor.

The harbor lay in a gap between the hills—rugged, fir-clad slopes with rock faces; a virile, untamed country that contrasted with the mouldering age-old look of the Scottish and Irish headlands. The troops along the Julep's deck were silent, for most of these men were catching a first glimpse of the New World.

There was no jubilation, no deck-long chorals, no excited chatter, as there had been the night we dropped anchor in Scotland's Clyde. For those had been eager youngsters bemused by the approach of action and the thrill of adventure. And these were war-weary men, disillusioned and calloused to emotion. Except for the jibbering unquenchable U. S. transport pilots, they just stood and brooded as we swept past the submarine boom and into the bottleneck of the harbor.

LONG JOURNEY ENDED

It was neatly and swiftly done—a short circle around the central, fortified island, a nautical gee and a marine haw, a nudge by the little bulldog tugs, a hawser fastened to the wharfs, gangplanks rolled out. And then the tedious wait while the port's officialdom climbed inboard and began to catechise aliens, inspect manifests, check troop musters. Faces of the military which had, months ago, said farewell, turned upward now to say "Hello." Grief, tribulation, inertia, disaster seemed very far away. The long journey was over.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

ALL TYPES of garden design, from the quaint charm of the old fashioned gardens of grandmother's day to the formal symmetry of English, French and Italian gardens, will be contrasted in the 17 blue-ribbon estates opened to the public by the Noannet Garden Club on Sunday, May 25.

Garden lovers, who look forward each year to this day when beautifully kept private grounds are on exhibition, will not only enjoy a pleasant all-day tour but will aiso be doing their bit for a worthy cause in purchasing the patriotic red, white and blue badge which provides admission to all of the estates . . . Proceeds will benefit Bundles for Britain . . .

Mrs. Edith Roelker Curtis of Cressbrook Farm, Norfolk, is president of the club and Mrs. Theodore E. Brown of Milton is chairman of the committee planning the garden tour . . .

One of the most picturesque stops en route will be Mrs. William Amory Parker's in North Easton . . . Once the property of her great grandmother, the garden still has the original box hedges and walks . . . Visitors will also enjoy seeing her outdoor sitting room equipped for winter with a fireplace . . .

Old fashioned shrubs and viburnum will be in bloom at Mrs. Gaspar G. Bacon's estate in Jamaica Plain which is noted for its spring flowers, fountains, lovely beech trees and woodland paths . . . In Milton visitors will see the horseshoe-shaped garden belonging to Mrs. C. Minot Weld which is enclosed in a rustic fence surrounded by flowering shrubs, and will be tempted to follow a wooded path edged with wild flowers . . .

Mrs. John S. Ames' estate in North Easton, which tomorrow will be the scene of a beautiful wedding reception for her daughter, Rebecca and Mr. Peter S. Thompson, provides colorful vistas of mountain laurel and rhododendron . . . Her sister-in-law and neighbor, Mrs. Louis A. Frothingham, has built her garden around an interesting old Italian well head covered with white clematis . . .

Tea will be served at Mrs. Theodore E. Brown's Milton garden where Mrs. William Bayne, 3d, Mrs. Charles Devens, Mrs. George Higginson, Mrs. Alexander H. Ladd, Jr., and Mrs. George P. Sturgis will act as pourers . . . Serving as hostess-guides will be Patricia Bayne, Gertrude Peabody and Mrs. Sydney Graves, while selling tickets at the gate will be the Misses Betty and Helen Williamson and Mary O'Connor . . .

For those who wind up their tour at tea time in Wellesley, refreshments will be served at Mrs. Walter Hunnewell's beautiful estate overlooking Wellesley College and Lake Waban . . .

Vincent Club Luncheon Attracts Fashionables

A DEEP GOLDEN TAN, which could only come from long hours in the sunshine, was sported by Mrs. Charles Henry Matz as she stored her golf sticks in the locker room at The Country Club yesterday and strolled across the lawn to compare notes on the morning scores with friends across the luncheon table . . . Her golf links costume consisted of a turquoise broadcloth dress, navy cardigan and turquoise hat pulled well down over her blonde curls . . .

Her vivacious post deb daughter, Sandy, who derives her nickname both from the color of her hair and her given name "Alexandra" . . . arrived at the club a few moments later to attend the annual spring luncheon of the Vincent Club . . . Sandy wore one of those nice new hats with a real crown and brim which seem to be usurping the place of those frivolous little plaques of birds and fruit—so long the objects of disdain of discerning husbands . . . Her hat was navy and topped a navy redingote over a red and white print dress . . .

Other best bets among the luncheon costumes . . . The navy suit and hat, with spic and span touches of white, worn by Mrs. William L. Shearer, 3d . . . Alice Hurd's novel Tyrolean linen . . . of billiard table green bound with white and embroidered with red . . . Hope Halsey's slim navy reefer with a big water lily on the shoulder . . . Barbara Higginson's crimson wedgees and purse which brightened a tailored navy suit . . .

Barsha Powers, sporting a deep and becoming tan, set it off with a pink linen dress and matching stitched hat . . . Libby Jenney, Martha Turner, Cynthia Reece, Polly Faulkner and Mrs. Norman Vaughan, who wore a cape costume of sage green, were also in the throng of Vincentites attending the luncheon . . .

Outstanding feature of the Vincent meeting was the election of officers for the coming year . . . As a result of the balloting three executives were re-elected—Mrs. James Parker, 2d, president; Julia Barbour, first vice-president, and Dorothy Rackemann, third v.-p. . . . Other offices will be filled by Louisa Barbour, 2d, v.-p. Sylvia Winsor, secretary, Mary Hutchins, treasurer, and ane Megrew, assistant treasurer . . . The executive committee comprises Mrs. George F. Bemis, Mrs. Richard K. Thorndike, Jr., and Susan Sweetser.

Chapins Aid Rummage Sale

Martha Chapin and her sisters, Alice and Susan of Brookline, are busy piling beach wagons full of books and games which they are collecting for the Rummage Sale to be held in Horticultural Hall later in the month. The Faulkner Hospital Aid Ass'n is providing the worthy cause for which the sale is to be given.

Assisting the Chapins is their married sister, Mrs. Richard Waters, Jr., as well as Miss Lansdale Watson, of Dedham, Mrs. Henry de Ford, Jr., of Hingham and Mrs. Keith Carnegie Steele of Brookline.

Mrs. Joseph H. Bragdon, chairman of the Milton branch of the Hospital Aid, is soliciting articles for babies and little children—clothing, toys, cribs and carriages. Her assistants include Mrs. Franklin Reece, Jr., Mrs. Frederic Tudor, Mrs. Marshall G. Hall, Miss Elizabeth Ayer, Mrs. Francis W. Sargent, Mrs. John P. Hubbard, and Mrs. Christian Born.

Mrs. Gordon Morrison of Waban is taking charge of household supplies and equipment and has enlisted the aid of Mrs. Sidney C. Wiggin, and Mrs. Forbes MacGregor, both of Waban.

A New Figure for Spring

Registered U. S. Patent Office

—By IDA JEAN KAIN—

It seems we have a skeptic in our slimming circles. A young lady who did not reduce—diet and exercise to the contrary—writes somewhat huffily that she believes I make up those letters from the shining examples.

Lucky for me, I am in the habit of saving the good letters. Anyone who has her doubts as to their authenticity can drop around any time and see the originals. But I will admit that some of them do sound almost too good to be true. Here's one that may:

"This is to inform you that under the guidance of your column I have lost 64 pounds. Last June my weight was 214 pounds and today it is 150 pounds, which seems to be about right for a person of my build. I am five feet six and one-half inches tall, and have a rather large frame.

"I used to wear a size 44 and am down to an 18. My husband is so thrilled because I have lost weight, and so happy because I look better, that he wants to buy me all kinds of clothes and even insisted on my purchasing a black suit. So far, I have lacked the courage to wear it before anyone, but maybe I'll get over that in time."

She said several nice things, most of which I am leaving out, but just to keep the note of authenticity, I'll put this in:

"Keep up the good work of helping women to overcome their physical faults. I, for one, will be grateful to you for the rest of my life."

Waltzing Party In Weston

The British-American Ambulance Corps is providing Weston socialites with an excuse to give a Viennese waltzing party which will be a red letter affair on next Thursday's busy calendar.

The party will be held in Weston Town Hall which will be transformed for the occasion from its usual austere New England interior to a gay corner of Old Vienna. Proceeds will benefit the ambulance fund.

Mrs. Theodore Chandler, chairman of the ticket committee, has enlisted the aid of Mrs. Leopold Gruener, Miss Rachel Spear, Miss Barbara Knight, Mr. Howard M. Forbes and Mr. John G. Brooks 2d.

There will be instruction in Strauss waltzes and such graceful dances of bygone days as the Chocolate Soldier, the Merry Widow and the Hesitation waltz.

VISITED BY STORK

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Clifford Hough of Hingham, announce the birth of a daughter, Virginia Whitney Hough, at Faulkner Hospital. Mrs. Hough is the former Elizabeth Whitney Hersey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Hersey of Hingham.

ED HOWE, the famed "Sage of Kansas," once said he never saw a red-haired married couple.

Columnist E. V. Durling, whose interesting comments appear daily on this page, hopes to be more successful.

He is therefore setting out to find a family in which the father, mother and children all have flaming tresses.

VIVIEN LEIGH
A Talented Red-Head

We think Mr. Durling would do well to begin his search in New England and especially in Massachusetts.

A large percentage of our population is light-complexioned.

Furthermore, our temperate climate and generally good weather preserve hair shades and prevent the deterioration that is common in less favorable parts of the country.

The only thing that makes us fear the Durling hunt will prove a failure is the contention of various distinguished scientists.

These learned men say that true red-heads are always the children of dark-haired parents.

If that is so, Mr. Durling will have to determine whether a husband and wife are really red-headed and not reddish blonds.

There seems to be a considerable difference between the two kinds of people.

Mr. Durling also expects to discover that his family of "brick tops" is well above the average in intelligence.

On this point we are prepared to agree with him.

A few months ago, Motion Picture Director Mervyn Leroy went on record as saying that "red-headed actresses like Vivien Leigh get more meaning into a ten-foot scene than most blondes and brunettes can in twenty."

Queen Elizabeth, who was one of the shrewdest rulers in Britain's long line, was a red-head.

So was her equally clever cousin, Mary, Queen of Scots, who might have seized the English throne if she had been more diplomatic.

We would not attempt to name all the great men who have had red hair. The most famous and undoubtedly the brainiest was George Washington.

We shall keep our fingers crossed and trust to luck that if there is a red-headed married couple in New England, Mr. Durling will find them.

JOHN P. STORY, an 82-year-old resident of the town of Essex, is forsaking retirement to reopen the old boatyard which his ancestors established back in the days when New England-built ships were the pride and envy of the world.

Mr. Story is wise and patriotic.

We hope other men will profit by his good example.

There is no reason why all individuals and firms should not take advantage of the current boom in the shipbuilding industry.

Thousands of the vessels which have been lost in the current European war will have to be replaced in the next ten years.

The replacing can be largely a New England enterprise if we revive the courage and determination that caused shipbuilding to flourish here a century ago.

The South may lure away our textile industry and create unemployment for hundreds of our people in mill centers.

But no State will ever seize our Atlantic ports and harbors which are ideally suited to shipbuilding.

"KEEP HOMES INTACT," warned Mrs. David A. Westcott, president of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's Clubs at that important organization's recent Swampscott convention.

"In these days when the world is thinking only in terms of war and destruction," Mrs. Westcott declared, "one great national defense must be continued—that of keeping the homes and thus preserving the ideals the United States stands for."

This is sound advice; a nation is as strong as its homes, no stronger.

One of the principal evils of today is the disposition of millions to regard their houses merely as places for eating and sleeping.

Children of such families are usually obliged to look to professional counselors and welfare groups for knowledge and guidance.

Only the future will show the damage these little girls and boys are suffering, for no stranger will ever take the place of a loving mother.

Here comes the flag
Cheer it!
Uncover your head to it.
Shout at the sight of it,
The justice and right of it,
The unsullied white of it,
The blue and the red of it,
And tyranny's dread of it.
—ARTHUR MACY.

A LEADER, as to volume, in the field of "How To" literature is the subject "How To Be Successful." Much of this has been written by theorists. Now and then, however, a successful man gives his views on the matter. As for instance Lord Beaverbrook, one of the most successful men in the world and one who made $5,000,000 before he was 30. In 1921, Beaverbrook wrote a book called "Success." Seems this should be worth the attention of young success seekers. And probably wouldn't do some of the older success seekers any harm.

BRIEFLY: British have issued a call for dogs for the Army Canine Corps. Breeds preferred are Airedales, collies, Labradors and golden retrievers. Owners enlisting their dogs must do so for the duration of the war. Imagine being asked: "Where is your dog?" and answering: "He's in the army now!" . . . Wisely states Dr. Henry C. Link: "All genuine superiority grows out of a sense of inferiority. The person who admits his inferiority and then does something about it develops superiority" . . . Something to ponder upon: All the German-made commercial planes operating on Nazi-owned airlines in South America have been so constructed that they can be quickly converted into bombers.

PLEASE NOTE: New York City has a monument erected in honor of "An Amiable Child," but so far none for "An Amiable Wife," or a "Perfect Husband," or "A Lovable Mother-In-Law." Which reminds me, what are you going to give your mother-in-law on Mothers-In-Law Day? . . . "What did you say you considered the most beautiful line in the Bible?" asks a San Franciscan. Don't remember making any such selection, sir, but I think the following is among the most beautiful and impressive: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for Thou art with me."

SONIA LEE SAYS: "Fault finding is the result of frustration. It is an indication of a sense of inferiority in the fault finder." May be something to what Sonia says. But there must be a distinction between fault finding and constructive criticism. Some people have the idea when another person criticizes them it is fault finding, but when they criticize somebody else that is constructive criticism.

PASSING BY: Mrs. Joe Louis. Wife of the king of the ring. Mrs. Louis, something of a style expert and enthusiast, recently told reporters she had 58 hats . . . Carole Landis. Cinema cutie. Carole, who is 22, has been married twice . . . Eric Blore. Whimsical thespian. Mr. Blore recently added to his singing in the bathtub medley that touching ditty: "I'm Milly, a Mouldy Old Mermaid."

SIDELIGHTS: O. O. McIntyre was offered and turned down $7000 a week for one 15-minute radio program a week . . . The last time the U. S. Navy did any convoying across the Atlantic was when it convoyed two million doughboys to France without a casualty . . . A Glasgow bookmaker is advertising he has $25,000 to bet the war will be over within 12 months. Am inclined to feel this bookie may be in possession of something there.

CAROLE LANDIS, YOUTHFUL FILM STAR
Has Had Two Marriages, Durling Reveals

ASIDES: In the Mormon marriage ceremony the words "for eternity" are used instead of "till death do us part" . . . Dive bombing was originated by United States Navy aviators at Pensacola, Florida . . . Hollywoodian is producing a film titled "The Great Train Robbery." He won't be able to show it in Maryland. In that state it is against the law to show a film in which a train is held up. It is all right, however, to show a film in which a man, an automobile or a filling station is held up.

SAID THEY: "Cheating husbands," says Elizabeth Mather Young, "seldom want divorces. They want comfort, security and the companionship of a home and wife plus the rejuvenation, ego-flattering thrill of an affair. A deceived wife who forgives her husband's lapses because she believes men are natural philanderers is a gullible fool. She is paving the way for more heartbreak for herself" . . . People have long been advised not to worry, that worry kills you young, etc. But Dr. Louis E. Bisch states: "Worry indicates you are not giving up the fight. That your mind is trying to help you overcome your troubles and win. It is a healthy, not an abnormal attitude."

SAYS HE: "As to these working wives," writes a New Yorker, "their earnings should be combined with those of their husbands and the family budget based on the total. Most working wives want to keep all the money they earn and spend it on themselves while their husband foots all the bills. Such women must not be permitted to get away with their idea of 'what's yours is mine, and what's mine is my own.'"

REBUKE: "You shouldn't make fun of bobby sock wearing Co-eds," writes a University of Washington co-ed. "Many of us wear bobby socks because we can't afford to wear silk stockings all the time." All I can do about this is to stammer apologetically: "I never thought of that." But I hope the co-eds will remember what that man said about it being human to err, etc.

FOG KEEPS F. D. R., JR., ABOARD SHIP

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, May 16—Last Friday the President's mother, accompanied by Eleanor Roosevelt, Ethel Roosevelt and F. D. R., III, went to Hyde Park. They were to meet Ensign Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who was arriving from Boston, on a week-end leave. Three hours after he was expected to arrive, they received word that the President's son had his leave of absence cancelled. Fog had necessitated the postponement of his ship's maneuvers until the next day . . . The Harry Bridges hearings will not be terminated before Aug. 15 . . . Leonard Franklin, who will play the role of 'St. Chavez" in Gertrude Stein's "Four Saints in Three Acts" at Town Hall May 27—the role he created in the original Broadway company—works for Virgil Thomson, the composer-critic. There'll be many changes next week, at the Int. Rev. offices here . . . OLE OLSEN, of Olsen & Johnson, invited his mother to accompany him to the Kentucky Derby—her first horse race, and they traveled there in a private train . . . When the horses paraded before the first race, Ole's illustrious friends told Mrs. Olsen they'd place a bet for her. She looked at the horses, selected one because she liked his colors—and he won. When the horses paraded before the second race, Mrs. Olsen again selected one, by color—and again he won . . . Her judgment was infallible, and seemed almost uncanny. The excited men gathered around the venerable lady, as soon as the horses paraded before the Derby was about to start. "I refuse to make another selection," she insisted—but the men were so persuasive that she agreed. She studied the steeds, and finally said: "I pick that one—the first one." It was the non-racer whose job it is to lead the bluebloods to the starting post.

There was an earthquake there, and while rescue squads were at work, Italian planes flew overhead, and bombed the town. BBC reported this contrast—that British aircraft were also over Larissa the same day, dropping medical supplies. They get nothing but kindness from us," was Mr. Crow's pained analysis, "—while the enemy are positively hostile."

LISTEN, WORLD!

by ELSIE ROBINSON

THEY'RE GOING to be married next month. And they wish I'd tell them what is "the most important rule to observe in making a happy marriage."

No dice, youngsters. I can't know what's best for you—and mighty seldom for myself! But I can give you one tip that applies to every human relationship and particularly to marriage:

If you want to stay in love, if you want to remain interesting to each other and keep your marriage an exciting adventure, don't try to get too well acquainted!

Human beings are individuals before they fall in love, and if they value their mutual happiness they'll preserve that individuality afterward.

REMEMBER the thrill of wandering down some newly discovered wood trail, delighting in its unexpected turns, its tantalizing vistas? Human spirits are like wood trails with much the same allure. We, too, have our hidden patterns of light and shade, our surprising twists, our mysterious caves of escape. This is, at once, our charm and the source of our strength. If it is destroyed, we, ourselves, are destroyed.

You wouldn't enjoy a forest path much if someone stripped it of its undergrowth, drained its glimmering pools, clipped its trees, to one, monotonous level. Yet how often, in the name of "love," we invade another life, expose its deepest privacy, its hidden sanctuary, demanding that it surrender every secret.

Then what? Then we wonder why we go stale on each other, why we are no longer eager, excited, allured.

To be One's Self—within civilized limitations—is our most sacred privilege and responsibility. It is the source of our peculiar power, our ambition and self-confidence. And no one, however near or dear, has the right to block that privilege

IF YOU WANT TO STAY TOGETHER, STAY APART!

Stay far epough away to keep the charm and mystery that first attracted you. Respect the Other Fellow's privacy and peculiarities. Let him grow in his own design.

LIFE WILL KNOCK his ears down soon enough. Don't use your wedding ring as if it were a pair of brass knuckles.

MORE MARRIAGES HAVE BEEN WRECKED BY UNWISE INTIMACY AND STUPID POSSESSIVENESS THAN WERE EVER RUINED BY ANY OTHER CAUSE.

A man once said to me, "I love Elizabeth. But if I ever divorce her—which God forbid—it will because she always reminds me to wear my rubbers and insists on my eating prunes."

Silly? No. Profound truth. You can wreck love as surely with pin pricks or pouts as with depth bombs. Hands off, if you want romance to last. Give 'em sir!

MY DAY

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Thursday—Yesterday the cabinet ladies and I gave our annual picnic luncheon for the ladies of the Senate and were fortunate in having a beautiful day. We recalled last year that several showers disturbed our lunch, but this year the only thing which disturbed us was speculation as to what was the real explanation of Mr. Rudolf Hess.

A number of people came to tea yesterday, and in the evening I went to hear Mr. Leopold Stokowski and his All-American Youth Orchestra. The program was beautiful, and one could not have wanted a more finished performance. Everyone with me enjoyed every minute of the evening.

After coping for some time now with almost perfectly straight hair, for I wanted to wait as long as possible before having a permanent wave again, I went this morning and spent three hours and a half at the hairdresser's. I always feel as though it is a terrible waste of time, but this morning I accomplished much reading. Incidentally, my hair will be easier to deal with for some time to come.

I READ ONE BOOK for the Junior Literary Guild and began a story written by a friend of mine, which I enjoyed very much and which I hope will find a publisher.

Somewhat late and somewhat breathless, I arrived at the luncheon given by the ladies of the 76th Congress. They were so kind about my delay that I recovered very quickly from the apologetic state of mind in which I arrived

Afterward I went to see the exhibition of watercolors at the National Gallery of Art, which will be open to the public this afternoon.

It is interesting to find that most of the painters exhibiting are under 30 years of age and come from 27 States, Hawaii and the District of Columbia. There are 51 women and 103 men represented. I think everyone will find this exhibition enjoyable.

JANE WITHERS GETS 4-H FILM LEAD

By Louella O. Parsons

Jackie Cooper

HOLLYWOOD, May 16—I don't know when I have had as much fun as I did last night when I had dinner with Jane Withers and Jackie Cooper. This rising generation is so intelligent, alert and up on every subject. Our conversation ranged from Hess' sensational flight to Scotland to the 4-H organizations of the country. Jane is interested in the latter because her next 20th Century-Fox picture, "Young America," deals with these organizations. Sam Engel is already working on his "Good Earth" script and it will be a Sol Wurtzel production. Hope when Jane gets to Washington the farmerettes will ask her to do her jitterbug dance. It is out of this world.

NOTHING TO CHEER up a dull day like a personal call from Mons. Slapsy Maxie Rosenbloom. Maxie wants the world to know that he's going to be so busy for the next couple of months that he won't be able to take part in his own night club show. Without appearing to find anything strange in it, Maxie said he goes into two college yarns at Columbia, "Harvard, Here I Come" and "The Stock Pays Off," as soon as he finishes his "Ringside Maisie" stint at M-G-M.

I'VE SWORN that the next time a company sent word to me they were looking for an unknown to go into a picture I would turn my back. There isn't a studio that hasn't sent out an SOS for an unknown to play in a picture—and then put one of their own stars in the part. But Irving Berlin and Mark Sandrich, producer-director, says this won't be true in "Holiday Inn," the Bing Crosby-Fred Astaire musical. Irving believes that with both Bing and Fred in a movie Para can afford to cast an unknown girl who can dance and sing. The 15 Berlin songs will be enough for Bing to share with the leading lady.

ON MY DESK I find a telegram from Richard Aldrich, whose stock company at Cape Cod has become famous. Jinx Falkenberg, who has been in Hollywood trying to get in the movies, has been signed at the Cape Playhouse and she will have an opportunity to play in several important roles. Luise Rainer, who is in Hollywood talking over "The Shanghai Gesture" role, will appear at the Playhouse in Barrie's "A Kiss for Cinderella" in August. "If you come East," Aldrich adds, "do come up for a week-end as my guest." Vacation time, I fear, has been in my mind too much lately.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Little Faith Dorn, the Warner starlet, so far as I know, is the only girl that Howard Hughes has ever taught to fly. He took little Dorn and her entire family to Coronado last week-end and the inside information is that he and Faith are seeing a lot of each other. But Howard is always the unpredictable one. Remember, he was supposed to be engaged to Ginger Rogers, and before that on the verge of marrying Katharine Hepburn? But he still remains single and when questioned, always says that he is too busy to think of marriage.

Love and Marriage -:- Ultra-Modern Marriage

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I've been married for eight years, but I'm beginning to doubt whether my wife ever loved me. She had divorced her first husband, had no sisters or brothers and never knew her father. She was a true "solitaire."

During all our married life I have had to do my own mending, even ironing my own shirts, and have done most of the washing because her arms were too weak.

Now I believe she's in love with a man, a friend of both of us, eleven years younger. We are both only 38. This young man has been drafted and has gone to camp, and when he left she carried on frightfully, and said she would marry him if he asked her. She says all she married me for was to get away from her home life.

F. J.

I think you've drawn a pretty poor type of woman as a wife. Your letter, which is too long to give in this column shows she only married you for a home, and now she's acting up over this draftee who is eleven years younger than she is. You have every reason to wonder where you stand, and unless separation from this indifferent type of wife would cause you to suffer unduly, it seems to me I'd let her go her way.

Draped Satin Suit

PAREOS and sarongs may come and go . . . but it's this type of suit which goes on forever in the surf clubs from Miami to Bar Harbor . . . Don't think this hasn't its brand-new points, however. Survey that masterfully draped bra and the flattery of the flaring shorts. It's for swimming and lounging. Stream-lined of seaworthy elastic satin woven with acetate rayon, and has little bloomers of rayon jersey. —ANNICE BRINK.

Her Son Just Engaged

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

My son has just told me of his engagement and I would like to know if it would be correct for me to invite the young lady to my house for dinner. Or should I wait for her parents to invite me? S. N.

Just as soon as you possibly can you—and your husband, if possible—should go to call on your son's fiancee and her mother. This important visit is made by the young man's family, and undoubtedly the girl's family are waiting for you to make the significant bow to them. This call is to tell the girl and her family of your happiness in the engagement, of your delight and pride of welcoming her into your family.

Either during this call, or a few days after, it would be gracious of you to invite your son's fiancee and her parents to dine with you. The pleasant formality of the welcoming call puts this relationship between the two families on the right social basis.

32 Leg and Ankle Exercises Offered Free in Leaflet

By ARLINE GOULD

AT THE WORD "exercise" there was a time when damsels fell into a deep faint, skinning their elbows on the parquet . . . but the word has no terrors today, for everyone, from overweight teen-agers to the grandmother who's proud of her girlish figure, exercises like mad. It's been discovered that special figure problems can be done nobly by, with the proper exercises . . . so saying, we ask you . . . how do your legs and ankles shape up?

One of the most marvelous leaflets we own hasn't been exploited enough lately, to our way of thinking . . . and with the beach season coming on, the matter of pudginess anywhere from thigh to pedicure is of extreme moment to most of you.

It is a two-page business that not only has a bunch of scientific exercises for reducing and giving shapeliness to the nether limbs (we have letters from readers who recount some wonderful results from these exercises, which gives us more and more confidence about offering them) . . . and we might add, another hint or two!

This reducing lotion even surpasses our regulation formula . . . which isn't such an unusual event when you consider that our beauty files are probably the largest in New England, and one formula might easily top another without our being aware of it until this very crucial moment!

These exercises do have dependable results . . . we can swear to that . . . they've been known to strengthen weak ankles and legs to the point that they were even "straightened" in the process of building up a really lithe, well-shaped muscle structure.

If you'd like a copy of this leg and ankle exercise leaflet, which includes a grand reducing lotion formula, too, write Arline Gould, Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

COOKING — Dainties Your Favorite Boy in Camp Loves

By MARTHA LEE

FILL THOSE BOXES for your favorite "selectee" at camp with sweets and good-to-eats! This is the advice of Mary I. Barber, food consultant of the United States Quartermaster Corps, speaking recently at a gathering of the nation's home economists.

Daily fare for the selectee may not be precisely what he begged and pleaded for at home, but the current Army ration is supplying all the vitamins and nutritional requirements he needs. He won't need your gift box but he will love it.

Cookies, cakes and candies are what he'll be happiest to get, for Army rations are made of sterner stuff. But see to it that your selectee's sweets are stern enough themselves to take jouncing and tossing, and perhaps a little quarreling over in the tent. Make yours the kind of cookies that arrive in one piece; remember that mile-high cake frosting looks pretty but travels poorly; that candies are easy to squash, if postmen know anything.

Good things to eat, packable as your knitted suit, are the ones for you; these can take it:

BUTTERSCOTCH SQUARES

¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2 cups cake flour
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup all-bran
⅔ cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 egg
¾ cup brown sugar
¼ cup nut meats

Blend butter and sugar thoroughly; add egg and beat well. Sift flour with baking powder and salt and add to first mixture alternately with milk. Beat after each addition until smooth; add flavoring. Spread to ⅛-inch thickness in sheet pan. Beat egg and brush over top. Combine sugar, nut meats and all-bran, which has been slightly crushed, and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) for 20 minutes. Makes 35 squares 2 inches in diameter (10½x15½-inch pan).

DATE CAKE

1 cup chopped dates
1 cup boiling water
⅓ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla extract
1 2-3 cups cake flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
½ cup chopped nut meats

Cover dates with boiling water; cool to lukewarm. Thoroughly cream shortening and sugar; add egg and vanilla extract; beat well. Combine with date mixture; add flour, sifted with salt and soda. Beat until well mixed; add nut meats. Bake in greased, 8-inch square pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 35 to 40 minutes.

COFFEE NUT BRITTLE

1-3 cup strong freshly-made coffee
½ cup white corn syrup
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup butter
¼ tsp. salt
1½ cups finely chopped nut meats

Mix together all ingredients except nuts. Cook without stirring to hard crack stage (280 deg. F.). Pour onto greased slab or bottom of a very large pan turned upside down. Sprinkle nuts on top and press in with rolling pin. Take hold of edges of the candy, lift it slightly from the slab and pull the sheet of candy out until very thin. Let cool and break into pieces.

PENUCHE

2 cups light brown sugar, firmly packed
½ tsp. salt
1 cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract
2 tbsp. butter
1 cup chopped nut meats

Combine sugar, salt, and milk in heavy saucepan and stir over low heat until sugar is melted. Cook over a medium heat, stirring occasionally until the soft-ball stage (236 deg. F.), is reached. Place pan in cold water, add vanilla extract and butter, and cool until lukewarm (110 deg. F.). Beat until mixture begins to thicken and lose its shine. Pour into a wet 7x7-inch pan, in which the chopped nut meats have been sprinkled. When cold, cut in squares. Makes 1¾ pounds.

"HOLLYWOOD TODAY," by Louella O. Parsons, noted filmland authority, appears regularly in the Boston Evening American.

Social Note

By: Charles McGuirk

"MR. AND MRS. JEFFRY THORNETON 2D yesterday announced the marriage of their son, Jeffry Thorneton 3d to Mary McLeod of this city. The couple eloped to Maryland Monday and were married and then returned and notified their parents. Angus McLeod, father of the bride, is with Crucible Steel. The couple will reside in Fairview."

That little item appeared in the Fairview (New Jersey) Courier which didn't recognize a story when it saw one and couldn't get it if it did. So it ran the facts in the society column.

Nevertheless, the elopement of Jeffry Thorneton with Mary McLeod was a story. It had everything, romance, conflict, flight, the Cinderella motif and great social significance. It couldn't have happened any time but now. It couldn't have happened 10 years ago, at least in the way it did, because 10 years ago, the United States has distinct classes, the upper and the lower, the rich and the poor, people of family and people without family.

All those things are gone now, but Mary is happy. Jeffry is happy, too. He is still afraid of Mary's brothers, but he is happy.

And one other thing. There is a deliberate half truth in the Courier's social note. That is because Sadie Wreen, the society editor, thought that Mr. McLeod's status might kill the wedding story if she explained baldly about his real position. Angus is with Crucible Steel, right, but not as an officer, as you might imagine. He is a night watchman and he has been so since he lost an arm when he got in the way of some molten steel in the foundry 11 years ago.

The Cast of Characters in "Social Note"

MARY McLEOD, daughter of a night watchman in a steel plant.
JEFFRY THORNETON, son of the owner of the plant.
THREE YOUNG GIANTS, Mary's brothers.

His three sons, Angus, Clyde and Andrew, are also with Crucible. They are puddlers. Giants, the three of them running from 6 feet even, which is Angus, the midget, to 6 feet 4, which is Andrew, the baby. They are snobs, as is their old man. You got all that straight? Well, here's the story.

Fate being the conniving old trollope that she is, Jeffry Thorneton, 3d, on a day in late June left the shaded ancestral porch in Fairview, climbed into the brand new Cadillac coupe which Jeffrey 2d had given him for graduating from Princeton, and drove it out to the Three Oaks pool, an exclusive swimming hole seven miles north of town.

A CONCEITED YOUTH

He was an athlete in a sort of way. He played a good game of tennis and a better game of polo. He was a crack swimmer.

He knew the Thornetons were the biggest fish in the puddle that was Fairview because Jeffry 2d had inherited and now ran Crucible Steel. He logically but quite erroneously inferred that they were just as big in the puddle of the world outside Fairview. His chief duty, he told himself, was to go on being a Thorneton and in time to marry the right sort of a girl and produce a Jeffry Thorneton 4th to carry on the name and the mills.

Arrived at the pool, he went down into the locker room and put on his shorts. He went back upstairs and out on the platform and stood at the pool's edge. There was nobody there from Princeton. There was not even anybody there from Harvard or Yale.

He might have spent the afternoon glooming over this fact, only at that moment he saw Mary McLeod. She was poised on the diving board. He forgot everything else.

This was not unnatural. Mary McLeod had packed into her five feet, three inches, all the best features of a composite magazine cover girl in addition to the things that make sweater and stocking ads so interesting.

Mary swore she never saw him. She was there as the guest of Louella Trojan, a debutante whose picture had been in the New York papers. They had been classmates together in Miss Trent's school where the four McLeods by a superhuman effort had sent their daughter and sister.

She dived. She brought her hands above her head and she swooned into the air and shot down like a bullet. She struck the water with hardly a splash and she broke to the surface like a seal. She shook her capped head and opened her eyes and saw Jeffry.

FIRST SIGHT LOVE

Jeffry was bent over a little, staring at her. He bent over a little too far. He fell in. He came up again and struck out toward her. He passed her, saying, "Just a minute!" and swam to where Louella Trojan sat at the pool's edge, basking in the hot June sunlight. He caught her by he foot and said, "Louella, you will come with me right away and introduce me to that girl or I'll drown you." A moment later, Mary was saying, "How do you do," and Jeffry was asking her if she wouldn't go for a ride with him.

Louella couldn't—or wouldn't go with them. They struck out over the mountains. They drove all the rest of the afternoon. They dined at the Blue Arrow and they ate a costly meal but neither could drank. They were the two latest have told you what they ate or victims of love at first sight.

That night when they were coming into Fairview, Jeffry 3d stopped the car and took Mary in his arms. She made no resistance. She met his kiss exactly half way and with the same fervor he brought to it. But a minute later, she slapped him hard across the mouth.

"To put it in words that you'll understand because you've probably heard them often," she explained calmly, "I'm not that kind of a girl."

Jeffry apologized and he meant it. He told her that he would never even attempt to kiss her again unless she asked him to. Mary looked deep into his eyes a long time. Then she said, "All right, darling, kiss me."

That night he went to bed and thought of Mary. Mary McLeod and nothing else.

For the first time in his life, he knew how Romeo had felt while he was waiting to keep his date with Juliet. Marriage seemed to be in order because she had demonstrated that that was the only way he could get her. He wondered who she was and where she was from.

Mary had left no telephone number and he couldn't find any McLeods in the book. She had insisted that he drop her at a bus stop last night so he didn't know where she lived. He called Louella and she told him who Mary was and who her father was.

"He's a night watchman in your father's plant," she said, "and she has three brothers working there at the furnaces."

Jeffry 3d felt as if Louella had kicked him in the stomach. Mary, he told himself regretfully, might be the most beautiful woman in th world. But after all—

He didn't go to the McLeod home until 5 o'clock that evening. He found Mary alone, because old man McLeod had just gone to work and Angus, Clyde and Andrew had not yet returned. He came to tell her that he would give her his love and an apartment and anything else she wanted. Before he left, he had asked her to marry him. He had just finished when Angus, Clyde and Andrew came home together. Mary told him he would have to get their consent. He put the question. In telling them who he was, he mentioned that his father owned Crucible.

JEFFRY FIGHTS

"Well," Angus said, scratching his dirty neck with a grimed fist, "does your old man know about this?" Jeffry 3d admitted he didn't. "Maybe he wouldn't like it," Andrew told him, "any more than we would. Mary's a swell kid. I didn't know about you."

"Did you ever work around a blast furnace?" Clyde asked, thrusting Angus aside and staring down from his 6 feet 2 inches. Jeffry 3d admitted he hadn't. "Well, why the h—— didn't you?" Clyde demanded. "You were around them all your life. How are you going to support our sister?"

"Crucible Steel is supporting all of you now," Jeffry said in an irritated and unguarded moment.

"I'll take him for that," Andrew said, and doubled up his fists.

"No, you're too big," Angus said, "I'm his size and besides I'm the oldest."

"Well, make up your mind," Jeffry 3d said, and fell into a fighting crouch.

Andrew moved toward him and he threw a punch and Andrew's fist exploded in his face. When he came to, Mary had his head in her arms. She poured a drink of whisky down his throat and the three brothers stopped whirling around and became themselves.

"Now you get up and get the h—— out of here," Clyde said quietly.

But Mary dropped Jeffry's head and walked out. She came back immediately. She was carrying a shovel. She made a dive at the three of them and they scattered out of the room.

"You big bullies!" she cried. "Hitting a man when he wasn't looking!"

They eloped that night. After two weeks, Jeffry Thorneton 2d and Mrs. Thorneton were delighted with their new daughter-in-law. There is only one change in the setup. Mr. McLeod is no longer a night watchman at Crucible. He claimed he was insulted and quit his job when Jeffry Thorneton 2d insisted that his pay be raised. As Mr. McLeod pointed out, he's too young a man to be living on his daughter's connections.

The End.

WILBUR PREMIERE FOR FARCE

By PEGGY DOYLE

The farcical comedy which has been successfully amusing blitzed Britons for months, "Women Aren't Angels," was given its American premiere last night at the Wilbur without benefit of bombs.

With Melville Cooper and Bobby Clark taking over the roles created by England's popular comedians Alfred Drayton and Robertson Hare, the farce opened last night to an audience surprisingly receptive to its definitely English humor.

Bobby Clark

The entire action takes place in Albert Brandle's country residence in Surrey, England. The time is last summer. Brandle has unwittingly asked Wilmer Popday to be his house-guest, and the eager Popday pops up even before his host arrives home.

By the time Bandle shows up at the old manse, presided over by a granite-hearted charwoman named Mrs. Featherstone, peace has departed and glamour-girl Frankie has moved in, yellow-and-orange lounge-pajamas and all.

In no time, poor Bandle and Popday are in spades, with uninvited guests popping out of the woodwork and involving them in all sorts of compromising positions. There's Olga, a devastating blonde, who crashes easily and admits after much mysterious abracadabra that all she wants is underwear . . . she ain't got any under that smoothly fitting skyblue gown.

But all this becomes trivial when the next morning discloses that they've all been robbed during the night of their most required possessions . . . their clothes.

Arrival of the two gentlemen's wives, brisk, sturdy ladies garbed in the uniform of their wartime activities, builds up this farcical situation, but not enough for us.

Throughout, there seemed to be uncertainly as to whether the cast were playing farce or burlesque. England's suave comedian, Melville Cooper and Bobby Clark, America's favorite of the erstwhile painted spectacles and the bubbling comedy sense, are thoroughly amusing, and no thanks to the script.

From which you may gather that this farce had made the mistake of wandering too far afield from the original plan. It's a case of neither fish, flesh nor good red herring. But Harry Wagstaff Gribble, one of Broadway's first directors, and currently directing the Ephraim production, may do something about this before the week is out.

Mickey Rooney Plays Hero Role

Pulling every organ-stop Metro's "Men of Boys Town" opened yesterday on Loew's State and Orpheum screens to come out winner in the year's tearjerker handicap.

You'll remember "Boys Town," the Spencer Tracy-Mickey Rooney co-starring film story inspired by Father Flanagan's colony for homeless boys near Ohama, Neb., as a distinguished production. Sincerely presented, excellently acted, it did credit to the splendid institution it honored.

Reluctantly, we must report to you that "Men of Boys Town," sequel to that earlier classic dedicated to the world's underprivileged boys, is not in a class with it. It is in left field, overrun with blubbering lads and carbon-copy situations.

Not even Tracy's fine portrayal of Father Flanagan, patron saint of the boys nobody wants, can save this costly mistake which points up the moral that sequels should be avoided like poison ivy. His kindly priest is still the inspiring, beloved character but the story never stands up to the demands of its subject.

Young Rooney again turns in a good performance as Whitey Marsh but it is not the clear-cut portrayal of the original picture. As mayor of Boys Town, he goes on an errand of mercy only to become innocently involved with the gendarmes. He is confined in a boys' reformatory run by a brutish superintendent, both out of Dickens.

Incredible is the tough-baby character played by Darryl Hickman in such a manner as to indicate he teethed on brasknuckles. Young Bobs Watson's freshet of tears, which he tapped three times during the unreeling as easy as pie, may break your heart but you know what it would do to W. C. Fields? The same here.

As the crippled boy who hates the world because of his deformity, Larry Nunn restrains himself nicely and gives a good performance.

On the same bill, "Washington Melodrama" brings Frank Morgan to the screen in company with Ann Rutherford and Kent Taylor. P.D.

Beauties Rule Keith-Boston Stage

Those "most beautiful girls in the world" are passing through the portals of the Keith-Boston these days for the Marcus Revue Continental, a sure sign of spring up on Washington st.

They're here, there and everywhere from the beach at Waikiki to flying around like gorgeous butterflies, this latter a production number that's dazzling and spectacular. Dot Coudy is the queen of the butterflies in this exotic ensemble, which has everything down to rippling streams through which the darlings flutter.

A stunning Tahitian number introduces the 40 beauties, and if Tahiti's like that, get your bookings now. For songs Bob White and Lee Royce are on hand, and for comedy which has plenty of innings here and there amidst all the glamour, there are Charles Clayton, the Three Horsemen and LaVan and Boles and their piano. Flagg and Anol offer acrobatics, there are dance specialties by Jean Tulaine and Florence Hinlow, and four fast jitterbugs. And wait for that Rhumba Finale, boys and girls. It's an eyeful.

Superb Acting By Whole Cast

By PEGGY DOYLE

That anonymous jerk you're always rubbing elbows with in the subway, at the $2 window at Suffolk or in the Fenway Park grandstand has finally been caught on the celluloid.

In Frank Capra's masterpiece, "Meet John Doe," with which a lot of good Americans should become acquainted this week at the Metropolitan Theater, you meet the fellow, a forthright, sometimes muddled, occasionally hoodwinked but never defeated guy who can be a Joe Louis when aroused.

You've met up with his kind before, and with Producer-Director Capra arranging the introductions. Remember Jimmy Stewart's Jefferson who went to Washington and Gary Cooper's Longfellow Deeds who went to town?

Capra's and script-writer Robert Riskin's "Meet John Doe," a great picture, is an even more arresting and lifelike composite of the common people. And no actor in all Hollywood, or elsewhere, could have given a finer portrayal of this symbolic spokesman of the John Does of the world than Gary Cooper.

He's a bum "Long John" Willoughby at the beginning of the picture who is talked into playing stooge to a synthetic John Doe newspaper circulation stunt. Columnist Barbara Stanwyck, who dreamed up the idea out of her pretty little head to save her job, is to write the daily story of his underdog life under the Emile Zolaish title, "I Protest."

Borrowing the new John Doe's philosophy from her dead father's diary, the girl comes to believe in the man she has created. He goes on the air, becomes a nationwide sensation, John Doe clubs spring up all over the country and he becomes a hero.

Meanwhile the apparently great-hearted publisher, whom Edward Arnold plays so convincingly, is preparing to collect on this fine philanthropic gesture by using the voting strength of the John Doe clubs to force his way into the highest office in the gift of the people.

At this point, John Doe wakes up, fights his way out of the noose, is almost beaten but lives to fight another day. It is no all-out victory for him but he wrecks the political ambitions of the dangerously suave tycoon-traitor to American principles of democracy.

The cast is uniformly excellent. Gary Cooper will have to go some to top this. Miss Stanwyck, in a more down-to-earth role than in the orchidaceous "Lady Eve," is first-rate and Arno'd's smooth biggie is a competent performance. Outstanding are James Gleason's hard-bitten, "in vino veritas" managing editor and Walter Brennan's jew's-harp playing bum. Spring Byington, Rod LaRoque, Regis Toomey and others too numerous to mention merit salvos.

GARY COOPER

Merry Film Delights Keith Fans

By PEGGY DOYLE

And now the movies have their lady-in-the-dark Merle Oberon in "That Uncertain Feeling," Keith Memorial's new tenant which reveals her having her subconscious delved into by psychoanalyst Alan Mowbray.

And if you know your Lubitsch, it is unnecessary to assure you it won't get you down.

Starting with that tongue-in-cheek opening, with its spiel about man's power which has opened all doors to him—that is, all but one—the incorrigible Ernst is there, nudging your funny-bone and keeping the action bouncing like a hard-rubber ball.

It all happens when Miss Oberon, an attractive, young matron gets took with a recurring spell of hiccups, retires to the ladies' lounge to recoup and is advised by solicitous friends to try psychoanalysis.

In the mind specialist's Swedish-modern office, Burgess Meredith, who is there to be freed of his audience-inhibition, promptly proves he has no conversational inhibitions. He hates his fellow-man and his fellow-man hates him but he'd like to lead his smartly-garbed, 110-pound fellow-patient through a surrealist art gallery.

One striking work of art, which looks like a puzzle to the young woman, is actually a portrait of the inhibited pianist by a woman to whom "I was a puzzle but who was no puzzle to me—and that's her revenge."

Psychoanalyst Mowbray has traced Merle's hiccups to her marriage. She is married to Melvyn Douglas, a practical, solid sort who sells insurance, sleeps soundly and is unaware that his sensitive wife's subconscious isn't hitting on all four.

Meredith, who acts like a Harpo Marx with sound effects and without a fright-wig, is beginning to look like the cure-all for what ails the lady's subconscious until an over-prolonged Bach and Mozart seance with the baby-grand brings on her hiccups.

Husband Melvyn Douglas wins by a knockout and all uncertainty vanishes with Melvyn and Merle in a reconciliation clinch.

"Double Date," the co-feature, teams Edmund Lowe and Una Merkel. An added attraction is the Dionne quintuplet short, the quins tea-partying with of all people, "The Man Who Came to Dinner" himself, Alexander Woollcott.

Midnight Bill

At the Old Howard midnight show tonight, the program will feature the "La Conga Belles" burlesquers, with a big cast of 60 people, including Rose LaRose, Charlotte Vogue, Fred Binder, Jack Rosen, James Coughlin, Gypsy Nana, Dorothy Lawrence, Fran Lewis, the Three Martels and Mignon and James Evans.

Review of "Cheers for Miss Bishop," Paramount and Fenway screen hit, appears on Page 51.

SWEETIE, YOU LOOK WONDERFUL! YOU USED TO BE SO SCRAWNY... NEVER DATED UP. HOW COME?
I WAS TOLD I HAD A "VITAMIN B COMPLEX DEFICIENCY." UNDERSTAND?

NO! YOU'RE OVER MY HEAD. WHAT IS IT?
JUST MEANS A SHORTAGE OF THOSE PRECIOUS VITAMINS FOUND SO ABUNDANTLY IN YEAST AND RAW LIVER

YEAST?.. THAT GROCERY-STORE YEAST, FLEISCHMANN'S?
THAT'S RIGHT! FLEISCHMANN'S IS CHEAP, RICH IN THE VITAMIN B COMPLEX... AND YOU CAN'T LOOK OR FEEL YOUR BEST WITHOUT THOSE VITAMINS

FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST IS ONE OF THE RICHEST NATURAL SOURCES OF THE AMAZING VITAMIN B COMPLEX... AND I TAKE IT THE NEW, DELICIOUS WAY... IN TOMATO JUICE!

MASH a cold cake of Fleischmann's Yeast in a dry glass with a fork, then add a little tomato juice, milk, or water and STIR till blended . . . then fill glass, stir again, and DRINK . . . twice a day. It's especially delicious in tomato juice!

U. S. Guards Normandie, Other French Ships Here

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—A dozen or more French-flag vessels, including the giant liner Normandie, one of the most lavishly-fitted ships afloat, were under United States guard today in the federal government's latest move against foreign shipping.

The boarding action by Coast Guardsmen apparently was similar to that taken against Danish merchant ships in American ports.

The Normandie has lain in dock here since she dashed into port five days after outbreak of the war, safe after a blackout crossing.

DASH RUMORED

There were many rumors about the Normandie. Every time her huge engines were turned over and whenever a crewman polished a bit of brass, the word got around she was going to dash for the open seas. But she wasn't painted grey, as was the Queen Mary, which lay beside her for months, and as was the Queen Elizabeth, both of which went back into the war.

Four other French ships were boarded in New York harbor last night by the Coast Guard. Ten men were placed on the Normandie to guard her, three each on the Ile de Noirmoutier and Mont Everest, which lay beside her, and the Fort Royal and Isle de Ouessant, which have been plying between New York and Martinique. The latter four are freighters.

SPECTACULAR VESSEL

The Normandie, with her spectacular Parisian decor, was the largest and fastest ship afloat when she made her maiden voyage, June 3, 1935. Soon she was in competition with the Queen Mary of the Cunard Lines for the mythical blue pennant of speed supremacy, and the title changed hands several times.

Her overall length is 1029 feet and she displaces 84,423 tons. Her promenades are as broad as city streets and her main dining salon is 100 yards long.

Parolee Fails To Save Pals

Allen G. Locke, 32, of Mystic ave., Charlestown, a State Prison parolee, failed today in an attempt to exonerate two alleged accomplices and prosecution of them continued after Locke pleaded guilty and was sent back to prison for 15-18 years for armed robbery.

The trio were arraigned in Suffolk Superior Court before Chief Justice John P. Higgins, on two charges of armed robbery and burglary, most spectacular of which was a Cambridge holdup in which a man and wife were bound and gagged.

Locke, on his second year of parole after serving 13 years of an 18-year sentence for stabbing a Concord Reformatory guard, told the court John J. Kerns, 27, of Walnut ave., Somerville, of John W. Saul, 30, of Mystic ave., Charlestown, were fre of guilt.

Kerns pleaded not guilty to charges of burglary, and Saul entered the same plea to charges of carrying a weapon, burglary and armed robbery.

Connie Mack Spurs Fans' Pleas for More Night Ball

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1941

DEFENSE WORK BRINGS DROP IN ATTENDANCE

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (AP)—Connie Mack, noting a drop in baseball attendance due to stepped up defense work, disclosed today a move for more night games to meet demands of fans.

He predicted the major leagues would get together in joint session within two weeks and lift a rule prohibiting more than seven nocturnal tilts at home a season.

"We may have 10, 14 or even more," declared the manager of the Athletics. "My suggestion to increase night games—voted down at the winter meeting—has been gaining momentum.

"Within the last few days I have talked to practically all the owners in our own league and I am sure a similar discussion has been going on in the National."

He hinted the possibility of definite developments tomorrow when Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis and other baseball notables gather here for a Connie Mack Day celebration.

"The fans want night games," remarked Connie. "During the last month I guess I have had at least hundred letters asking me to do what I could."

He displayed a letter from Edgar Martin, Philadelphia fan who said he had seen at least 300 games the past 10 years but had to forsake his favorite sport now what with defense schedules keeping him busy day after day.

"I miss my games," wrote Martin, "but I don't want to give up the $8 or $10 I make to see a game. Why can't we have more night games? One every week—or two a week. I know a hundred other fellows in our little plant who feel the same way about it."

They all say the same thing, commented Mack, "and I believe they are right. I have noticed the same situation all over the circuit. The fans want to come out to see baseball but they haven't the time during the day."

"Last year," continued the veteran pilot, "the American League had its greatest year with attendance surpassing all records. Nothing happened during the winter to dull the interest. Yet this season the crowds have been far below that of last year. And I am sure the same condition prevails in the National League.

"We want to give the fans what they want—and they want more night baseball now. If we don't satisfy them we'll be left holding the bag."

SWAPPED — Catcher Rick Ferrell, above, discarded the Washington Senators uniform today for the spangles of the St. Louis Browns. He was traded even for Pitcher Vernon Kennedy. The Browns have sought the services of Ferrell, who played for the Red Sox before going to Washington, for a long time.

Senators Trade Rick Ferrell To St. Louis

WASHINGTON, May 16 (INS)—The Washington Senators today received Vernon Kennedy, 32-year-old right handed pitcher, from the St. Louis Browns in a straight player deal for Rick Ferrell, 35, veteran catcher.

Meeting the Senators in Washington, the Browns also announced that outfielder Rip Radcliff, fourth leading hitter of the league last year, was sold to the Detroit Tigers for cash, after other American League clubs waivered on him.

Conn-Knox Bout Advanced a Day

PITTSBURGH, May 16 (INS)—The Billy Conn-Buddy Knox fight at Forbes Field has bene moved u pone day, to May 26, it was announced by the promoters today.

The original Tuesday night date was selected to avoid conflict with the Fritzie Zivic-Red Cochrane title bout at Newark, but since that has ben postponed until July 9, the promotors advanced the time to May 26.

INDIANS LOSE 'CRYBABY' TITLE TO BOSTON FANS

By JOE CASHMAN

People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

We mean that Boston fans have a lot of nerve calling the Indians "crybabies" when they are showing themselves to be prize "whiners".

That's what happened at the Fens yesterday, we regret to report.

Manager Joe Cronin had the misfortune to make a costly error.

Forgotten was the fact that the very day before the same Skipper Joe had pulled a decision out of the fire with a grand-slam homer. Forgotten was the fact that he entered this mid-week melee as the American League's leading hitter. Forgotten was the fact that he had his club in second place. Forgotten were all the games he's personally won for the Hose, outnumbering those he's lost, 100 to 1.

Instead, from the booking stands:

"Why don't you use a basket, Cronin? . . . Why don't you bring out a rocking chair to sit in?"

MUST BE "MUGGS"

And when Joe removed Earl "Lefty" Johnson in the seventh:

"Never mind taking the pitcher out, Cronin, take yourself out."

The cat-calls entered homes, passing through the "mike" and traveling over the radio air lines.

A customer who pays his money on the line for admission to a ball park is entitled to criticize.

And Cronin is paid good money to "take it."

But only muggs could stage such a demonstration as the Cronin critics did yesterday.

It isn't the first time it has happened, either, nor is it confined to Fenway Park. Hardly a Sox, Brave or visiting player hasn't been virtually skinned alive unjustly this spring.

And now Boston, which has long prided itself as being the best and fairest sports town in the country, must be rated among the worst and most rowdy.

Cleveland customers, notorious for their unfairness, never behaved more disgracefully or disgustingly than did the caustic customers at the Fens yesterday.

And that was but a repetition of what happened when a capacity crowd sat in the orchard to watch the Sox and Yanks last Sunday.

Joe DiMaggio, the game's greatest player, was insulted on every trip to the platter by a deafening chorus of "meat ball Joe." That, mind you, was in a game which saw the Sox far ahead from the start.

MIGHT BE INEBRIATED

This is the town that for years and years had athletes singing its praises from coast to coast.

This was the town, they used to say, where fans leaned over backward to be fair to visiting players and where they idolized the home heroes and sympathized in silence with the home "goats."

What's come over local fandom, anyway?

True, these wreckers of Boston's fair name appear to be in a minority but they are numerous and loud enough to drown out the majority when they swing into action.

It's possible that they are inebriated. If that's the case, they should be refused admittance to the park.

If it isn't the case, all we can say is that they should be ashamed of themselves.

It's very apparent that they don't know the first thing about baseball.

They abuse only the great players. A palooka having no license to be around can make one error and boner after another and they pay no attention to him.

They were hollering in the third inning yesterday for Cronin to remove Johnson. In the seventh, they were hollering because Cronin took "Lefty Earl" out.

CRONIN'S RECORD SPEAKS

All of which makes it evident that they holler not because they are upset over the home team trailing or because they feel the home team is being badly directed, but purely and simply to make themselves obnoxious.

We don't hold any special brief for Cronin. We don't have to defend him. He doesn't need any more than his brilliant 14-year-old

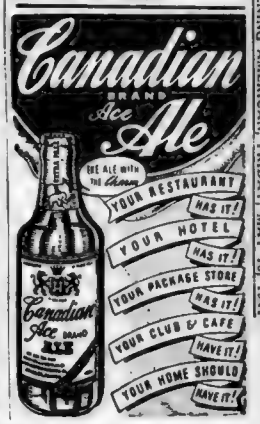
DOM DID IT—Gee Walker out at home in fifth inning on Di Maggio's perfect peg to Pytlak. The Indians had been afraid to run on Dom, but finally tried it on Desautel's fly to center.

Ranger Headed For Junk Pile

NEW YORK, May 16 (INS) — The last of the America's Cup yachts on this side of the Atlantic — Harold S. Vanderbilt's famous Ranger—today faced the prospect of winding up in the junk heap within a few weeks.

The Marine Liquidating Corp. of Fall River, Mass., has made an offer for the Ranger.



Syracuse Buys Newark Gardner

SYACUSE, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—The Syracuse Chiefs of the International League today bought Outfielder Antonino (Nino) Bongiovanni from the Newark Bears in a straight cash transaction. The amount involved was not disclosed.

Bongiovanni played 142 gafes for the Chiefs in 1938 while on option from Cincinnati, hit .321, drove out 46 doubles, four triples and 12 homers, and tied the club record of 181 hits in one season.

Tobins Test Champs In Leading Twi Game

Manager Dick Casey of the Dorchester club will use his fourth pitcher in as many games tonight when he sends his defending champion club after its fourth triumph in a row in Boston Park League competition against the Mayor Tobin club at the Marcella st. playground, Roxbury.

John "Jabber" Jockowitz, veteran semi-pro twirler, will take the mound for the Caseys in the feature tilt of the five games on the Park League slate.

WON ELEVEN LAST YEAR

Casey opened his season with Charlie Bird on the mound, came back the following night with Pete Cerrone and then trouped off with his third straight triumph on the pitching of Don McKenney. With three aces on his staff, Casey appeared well stocked in mound material but tonight he will counter with the ease ace.

Jockowitz turned in 11 triumphs last year for the champions of the circuit while dropping two decisions before leaving to pitch in the Northern League. This year, he's back again and apparently as tricky and as fast as ever.

Jockowitz will pitch to Gene McSweeney, young recruit, whom Casey is breaking in. This will be McSweeney's first active part in the Park League.

HURLEYS PLAY NAVY YARD

The Artesani club of Brighton, rolling after two early setbacks, will again meet the Hellenics, this time at the Fens Stadium, while the Hurley club and the Navy Yard, called off at Eustis st., will try to play off their game at Barry Park, Charlestown.

In the other two games on the slate, the Carter's Clothes outfit travels to Fallon Field to meet the Roslindale Town Club, and the Linehan Club of South Boston entertains St. Catherine's of Charlestown at the South Boston Stadium.

GAMES TONIGHT

Artesani Club vs. Hellenics at Fens
Hurley Club vs. Navy Yard at Barry.
Carter's Clothes vs. Roslindale T. C. at Fallon
St Catherine's vs. Linehan Club at S. B. Stadium.

NEW YORK, May 16 (INS)—The Fritzie Zivic-Freddie Cochrane bout for the world's welterweight title, scheduled for June 2, was postponed today until July 9 because of an infection in the champ's right forearm.

McCoy Appeals Draft Decision

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 16 (AP)—Benny McCoy, the Philadelphia Athletics' second baseman, notified his local draft board that he would appeal a decision to place him in Class 1-A as available for immediate army service.

McCoy did not state on what grounds he would appeal. On a recent trip to his home, however, he indicated he had listed family dependents in answering his questionnaire.

The appeal will delay McCoy's induction into the Army at least until the middle of June, even if the 1-A classification is upheld, a board representative said.

BOB FELLER COMPARED WITH WALTER JOHNSON

BOB FELLER, WHO is in town with the Cleveland Indians, has set a goal of 28 games for 1941. Last season when Cleveland failed in its pennant bid as a result of internal trouble Feller won 27 games and lost 11. His earned run average was 2.62 which was something about which to cheer.

BOB FELLER

The Yankees have given Feller the most trouble. In a recent game in New York, the speed ball pitcher conquered Joe McCarthy's club by a 2 to 1 score in ten innings which gave him 11 victories against the same number of defeats in clashes with the Yankees.

"If I can win 28 games this season, and I believe I shall be successful in doing so," said Feller today, "I am sure Cleveland will win the American League pennant. The loss of Hank Greenberg is an irreparable blow to the Tigers. With Greenberg in the Army, I do not believe the Tigers have a chance to win the flag again this year."

Asked what were the most dangerous clubs for the Indians, Feller did not hesitate giving his opinion.

"The Red Sox and the Yanks," said Bob. "The Red Sox do particularly well when they play at Fenway Park. They have bounced plenty of my best offerings off the left field fence. Foxx, Cronin, Williams and Doerr are all power hitters, while Tabor also clouts the ball pretty hard.

"The Yanks play well at home, but also star on the road. This gives them an edge over the Red Sox who are not as good a road club as they are when on their home grounds."

Feller has won 88 major league games.

"Maybe some day I shall reach 'Lefty' Grove's total of 295 wins," said Feller with a grin. "Grove was a speed ball pitcher when at the height of his career which makes me believe that fast ball pitching does not shorten the life of a pitcher."

* * *

WHEN IN NEW YORK this week, I talked with several persons who saw Feller turn back the Yanks.

"Feller is as great a speed ball pitcher as Walter Johnson was when in his prime," said one observer. "Feller, like Johnson, will end up his big league career winning more than 300 games."

Grover Cleveland Alexander, now broke, Eddie Plank, and Cy Young, former Red Sox and Braves pitcher, are other flingers who have won more than 300 games. Young scored 511 wins in the big leagues and when in his forties retired because he no longer could field bunts on account of a pot belly rather than as a result of any trouble with his arm. Cy lost his final major league game by a score of 1 to 0 to a young pitcher by the name of Grover Cleveland Alexander.

Johnson and Alexander were the best of recent year pitchers. If Feller can equal the feats of either of these men, he will establish himself as one of the greatest pitchers of all time.

Johnson was obliged to pitch brilliant ball to gain most of his victories as down through the years Clark Griffith's Senators were usually a second division club. It was not until the sunset of Johnson's major league career that he got into a World Series. That was the occasion when Joe Cronin piloted the Senators to an American League pennant and a world's championship.

One of Johnson's most important pitching duels was against Joe Wood of the Red Sox, now baseball coach at Yale, in Boston. The victory went to Wood by a score of 1 to 0 when a short single to right field knocked in the lone tally of the game.

Johnson, through Clark Griffith, challenged Wood to a pitching duel in a statement issued through the Boston American. Wood readily accepted, and the old Huntington ave. grounds was jammed to capacity when the two most famous pitchers of their period clashed.

It would be unfair to compare Feller to Young, Johnson, Alexander, Plank, Waddell and other old-time pitchers who did not have to contend with the lively ball. The lively ball has made the lot of the big league pitcher much more difficult than it formerly was.

Baseball owners have also moved around their outfield fences to meet the requirements of their star hitters. The right field stand at the Yankee Stadium was intentionally made short to assist Babe Ruth in piling up his home run total. More recently the right field wall at Fenway Park was brought in closer so that it would be easier for Ted Williams to get home runs.

Despite these handicaps, Feller has done amazingly well.

"The Red Sox would have won the pennant last year by a dozen games if we had a pitcher like Feller," Joe Cronin told me in Sarasota. "The Sox lacked a 20-game pitcher and that was the principle reason we did not win the flag. Bob Feller would have solved our problems."

'FIREMEN' PERFORM WELL FOR BRAVES

ST. LOUIS, May 16—Admitting that his starting pitchers had left much to be desired this year, Casey Stengel pointed out this morning that he was more than satisfied with his relief chuckers.

Lefty Joe Sullivan, Art Johnson and Frank Lamanna have all been terrific in the role of "firemen." In fact, all three have performed so heroically that Sullivan has been made a starting pitcher and Johnson will get his chance shortly.

Lamanna, after three great relief stints, failed as a starting pitcher, but he came back yesterday to fill in after Salvo was K. O.'d in the fourth.

This victory was mighty sweet in many ways. It moved the Braves into the first division and it broke a three-game losing streak. Then, too, it evened the Stengeleers with the Cards at two all for the year.

POSEDEL UNDEFEATED

And today Casey Stengel was out to get the series edge. He was to use his veteran Bill Posedel, who has gone the route in his only two starts of the year and has won them both.

Coming back to yesterday's game, Lamanna pitched the Braves out of trouble and coasted along nicely until he suddenly ran into trouble in the eighth. Tagged for three hits and one run, out went Lamanna and in came Winchester's Art Johnson.

With two men on the bases, Johnson forced Johnny Mize to ground out to Dahlgren and end the inning.

Art walked Cooper to open the ninth and then get the side out in order to windup the game.

PERFECT DAY FOR WANER

Forgetting pitching for a moment and turning to sticking, those two old men, Johnny Cooney and Lloyd Waner, who everybody claims should have been retired years ago, sparked the parade.

Old Johnny picked up a double and three slashing singles in five trips to the plate. Old Lloyd had a perfect day. Stepping into the game for West, who came up with a nose bleed, the Pirates cast-off poked three singles in three times at bat.

Next came Babe Dahlgren with a pair of lusty doubles that drove in two important runs.

The Braves confined their scoring to three innings, picking up two runs on each occassion.

LAMANNA AIDS OWN CAUSE

Successive singles by Rowell and Cooney in the opening inning found both scoring on two outfield flies and an infield out. The Cards picked up a run in the first and another in the fourth to tie it up.

Back came the Braves in the sixth to go ahead and never again get caught. Miller walked and came in on singles by Waner and Sisti. Berres then flied to Slaughter and home came Waner.

In the seventh, Lamanna opened the frame with a single, Weitelman sacrificed him along and Cooney's single scored him. Gene Moore forced Cooney but Gene later scored on Dahlgren's double to wind up the Braves scoring.

Bartell Accepts Giants' Offer

DETROIT, May 16 (AP)—Shortstop Dick Bartell, recently released by the Detroit Tigers, today announced he had accepted an offer from the New York Giants and would join the club immediately. Bartell said he also had received offers from two other major league teams.

The peppery, 33-year-old shortstop thus goes back to the National League where he started with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1928. He played with the Giants from 1935 through 1938.

major league record to defend himself.

He no longer is a shortstop wizard, he'll continue to lose games now and then through erratic fielding, though we still insist that without him in the lineup, the Sox would be a second-division ball club.

It's not Cronin we're interested in. It's Boston's reputation as a sporting town. It happened to be an outburst against Skipper Joe that occasioned this story. Today, it will be Doerr or Foxx or Williams or DiMaggio who'll get the "bird" if he isn't letter perfect.

TOOK FELLER TO STOP SOX

They play no favorites, these "wolves."

They won't break the Sox spirit, though, try as they will.

The natives had every reason to curl up in the face of the abuse heaped on them yesterday because they had a bad inning wherein they presented the Indians with three runs.

But, trailing 6 to 2, they chased Milnar when they scored two runs in the eighth and they got the tying run on the sacks in the ninth, forcing Roger Peckinpaugh to call in Rapid Robert Feller to stop them.

O'Rourke Chucks Baseball as Well

Class always tells. Take the case of Boston College's All-America Charlie O'Rourke, for instance.

WATCHES DIET—That's why Charlie O'Rourke, great milk drinker, is able to walk in and clinch outfield berth at B. C. after three-year absence from diamond.

The Malden "thin man"—who incidentally isn't so thin now that he packs 168 solid pounds on a previously emaciated frame—hadn't worn baseball flannels in three years when a sudden shortage of outfield talent forced Coach Fred Maguire to put in a hurry call for some garden talent just an hour before Boston College's annual clash with Villanova, Monday afternoon.

Informed of the baseball coach's predicament, O'Rourke, a busy fellow since he became a national headliner last fall, volunteered.

After receiving the first baseball equipment he has worn since his freshman days at the Heights, Charlie, former All-Scholastic outfielder at Malden High School, reported to Mentor Maguire. He didn't even have the benefit of pre-game batting practice before he was assigned to centerfield and the lead-off spot in the batting order.

The first time up O'Rourke drew a base on balls. A moment later he had scored Boston College's first counter of the contest.

PERFECT IN FIELD

Subsequent times at bat didn't lift the O'Rourke average out of the "zero" class, but did aid his team's cause. He reached three times in five attempts—once on a walk and the other times on fielder's choices.

On each of his four official trips to the plate, O'Rourke smashed the ball solidly, but each time his drive went right at a slick fielding opponent.

Wednesday afternoon, Charlie was again in action, this time against Providence College. In six trips to the plate he rapped three hits and boosted his batting average into the charmed .300 circle.

Against Villanova, the Malden senior, who will be married to Miss Mary Frances Madden, "the girl next door," on June 17, two days after the close of the Boston College diamond campaign, accepted three chances in the field. Two days later Charlie had five chances. He has yet to make an error.

As was the case on the gridiron, during his star studded three years of varsity football, O'Rourke makes mighty few false moves on the diamond.

He bats well, fields with finesse, has a good arm, is fairly fast, very smart on the base paths and is ever alert both at bat and in the field.

KEPT BUSY

In the Villanova game, a Wildcat took liberties with the O'Rourke "gun" and before you could say "Mickey Connolly" Charlie had rifled the ball to his former passing partner—Connolly is the second baseman—and the over-ambitious Wildcat was a dead feline.

The amazing thing about O'Rourke's baseball performance is the manner in which he returned to the diamond.

After a sterling year with the freshman diamond forces in 1939 he was unable to play varsity baseball because of spring football obligations. After a hectic recent fall on the gridiron and a busy winter of personal appearances, studying, etc. he had planned to forego further athletic competition and slip quietly out of Boston College on June 11, Commencement Day.

Mentor Maguire's shortage of outfielders ruined O'Rourke's plans but Charlie is happy to help the cause of alma mater and is enjoying to the limit his final fling at college competition.

Talun Gets Angel Bout

Victor over Pantaleon Maniapig in straight falls, Wladislau Talun of Poland has been paired with The Angel in a championship match at the Arena next week.

It will be a battle between physical freaks. Talun is 6-8 and weighs 302 while the title-holding Angel has the heaviest, ugliest head ever seen on the continent and a Neanderthal body.

If Talun should be victorious he will be the biggest man in history to hold the title. The late Wayne Big Mann was the largest pervious champion. Talun not only is taller than was Munn but is 27 pounds heavier.

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press

BOB FELLER, Indians—Saved victory over Red Sox by going in in ninth inning with two on and none out and retiring the side.

BILL KNICKERBOCKER and MYRIL ROAG, White Sox—Each made four hits to help defeat former Yankee teammates.

DENNY GALEHOUSE, Browns—Pitched one-hit game against Senators.

HAL SCHUMACHER, Giants—Held Cubs to six hits for 2-1 victory.

LLOYD WANER, Braves—Made three hits while subbing in outfield during triumph over Cardinals.

HAL NEWHOUSE, Tigers—Pitched seven-hit victory over Athletics.

GALEHOUSE, SOX CASTOFF, HURLS ONE-HITTER

The Chicago White Sox are performing tricks again in the American League, hovering around second place with a collection of castoffs while other star-studded clubs wallow in despair.

Their aging pitchers have surpassed the staffs of every other team in both majors by hurling 17 complete games out of 24 played, in spite of hit-and-miss help from their teammates.

The Sox have played errorless ball in only four of their contests, and their inconspicuous hitting has caused nine of their 14 victories to come through a one-run wringer.

MOSTLY CASTOFFS

Their lineup includes Joe Kuhel and Taft Wright, a couple of pick-ups from the Washington Senators; Dario Lodigiani, a throw-away by the Philadelphia Athletics; Billy Knickerbocker, castoff utility infielder of the New York Yankees; Myril Hoag, who was passed around by both the Yanks and St. Louis Browns, and other derelicts.

But this conglomerate cast has abiding faith in Manager James Joseph Dykes, and ability to rise to the occasion.

They whipped out a 14-hit offensive and sent the once-proud Yankees crashing to their fifth straight defeat, 13-1.

REDS BLOW IN NINTH

The Detroit Tigers broke their six-game losing streak by overwhelming the Athletics, 10-2, with a vicious 18-hit attack and the seven-hit hurling of young Hal Newhouser.

The St. Louis Browns shut out the Washington Senators, 7-0, with a sensational one-hit pitching performance by slender Dennis Galehouse, one of the pitchers the Brownies bought from the Red Sox last winter. He had a potential no-hitter until Jim Bloodworth singled with two out in the seventh.

Cincinnati's world champions went staggering to their fifth consecutive defeat, 5-4, at the hands of the Phillies in the first night game of the year. Gene Thompson blew up to give the National League tail-enders four runs in the ninth.

Hal Schumacher outpitched Claude Passeau, six hits to eight and led the New York Giants to a 2-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

'FIREMEN' PERFORM WELL FOR BRAVES

ST. LOUIS, May 16—Admitting that his starting pitchers had left much to be desired this year, Casey Stengel pointed out this morning that he was more than satisfied with his relief chuckers.

Lefty Joe Sullivan, Art Johnson and Frank Lamanna have all been terrific in the role of "firemen." In fact, all three have performed so heroically that Sullivan has been made a starting pitcher and Johnson will get his chance shortly.

Lamanna, after three great relief stints, failed as a starting pitcher, but he came back yesterday to fill in after Salvo was K. O.'d in the fourth.

This victory was mighty sweet in many ways. It moved the Braves into the first division and it broke a three-game losing streak. Then, too, it evened the Stengeleers with the Cards at two all for the year.

POSEDEL UNDEFEATED

And today Casey Stengel was out to get the series edge. He was to use his veteran Bill Posedel, who has gone the route in his only two starts of the year and has won them both.

Coming back to yesterday's game, Lamanna pitched the Braves out of trouble and coasted along nicely until he suddenly ran into trouble in the eighth. Tagged for three hits and one run, out went Lamanna and in came Winchester's Art Johnson.

With two men on the bases, Johnson forced Johnny Mize to ground out to Dahlgren and end the inning.

Art walked Cooper to open the ninth and then get the side out in order to windup the game.

PERFECT DAY FOR WANER

Forgetting pitching for a moment and turning to sticking, those two old men, Johnny Cooney and Lloyd Waner, who everybody claims should have been retired years ago, sparked the parade.

Old Johnny picked up a double and three slashing singles in five trips to the plate. Old Lloyd had a perfect day. Stepping into the game for West, who came up with a nose bleed, the Pirates castoff poked three singles in three times at bat.

Next came Babe Dahlgren with a pair of lusty doubles that drove in two important runs.

The Braves confined their scoring to three innings, picking up two runs on each occasion.

LAMANNA AIDS OWN CAUSE

Successive singles by Rowell and Cooney in the opening inning found both scoring on two outfield flies and an infield out. The Cards picked up a run in the first and another in the fourth to tie it up.

Back came the Braves in the sixth to go ahead and never again get caught. Miller walked and came in on singles by Waner and Sisti. Berres then flied to Slaughter and home came Waner.

In the seventh, Lamanna opened the frame with a single, Weitelman sacrificed him along and Cooney's single scored him. Gene Moore forced Cooney but Gene later scored on Dahlgren's double to wind up the Braves scoring.

Bartell Accepts Giants' Offer

DETROIT, May 16 (AP)—Shortstop Dick Bartell, recently released by the Detroit Tigers, today announced he had accepted an offer from the New York Giants and would join the club immediately. Bartell said he also had received offers from two other major league teams.

The peppery, 33-year-old shortstop thus goes back to the National League where he started with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1928. He played with the Giants from 1935 through 1938.

SHAME, SHAME ON BOSTON'S RED SOX FANS

major league record to defend himself.

He no longer is a shortstop wizard, he'll continue to lose games now and then through erratic fielding, though we still insist that without him in the lineup, the Sox would be a second-division ball club.

It's not Cronin we're interested in. It's Boston's reputation as a sporting town. It happened to be an outburst against Skipper Joe that occasioned this story. Today, it will be Doerr or Foxx or Williams or DiMaggio who'll get the "bird" if he isn't letter perfect.

TOOK FELLER TO STOP SOX

They play no favorites, these "wolves."

They won't break the Sox spirit, though, try as they will.

The natives had every reason to curl up in the face of the abuse heaped on them yesterday because they had a bad inning wherein they presented the Indians with three runs.

But, trailing 6 to 2, they chased Milnar when they scored two runs in the eighth and they got the tying run on the sacks in the ninth, forcing Roger Peckinpaugh to call in Rapid Robert Feller to stop them.

Heroes and Goats

By International News Service

HEROES: Dennis Galehouse, Browns, who pitched one-hit shutout against Senators. Hal Schumacher, Giants, whose six hitter stopped Cubs. Bill Knickerbocker, White Sox, who led attack on Yanks with four hits, including homer.

GOATS: Ernie Bonham, Yanks, unmercifully pounded by White Sox. Ken Chase, Senators, blasted by Browns. Phil Marchildon, Athletics, hammered by Tigers.

O'Rourke Chucks Baseball as Well

Class always tells. Take the case of Boston College's All-America Charlie O'Rourke, for instance.

WATCHES DIET—That's why Charlie O'Rourke, great milk drinker, is able to walk in and clinch outfield berth at B. C. after three-year absence from diamond.

The Malden "thin man"—who incidentally isn't so thin now that he packs 168 solid pounds on a previously emaciated frame—hadn't worn baseball flannels in three years when a sudden shortage of outfield talent forced Coach Fred Maguire to put in a hurry call for some garden talent just an hour before Boston College's annual clash with Villanova, Monday afternoon.

Informed of the baseball coach's predicament, O'Rourke, a busy fellow since he became a national headliner last fall, volunteered.

After receiving the first baseball equipment he has worn since his freshman days at the Heights, Charlie, former All-Scholastic outfielder at Malden High School, reported to Mentor Maguire. He didn't even have the benefit of pregame batting practice before he was assigned to centerfield and the lead-off spot in the batting order.

The first time up O'Rourke drew a base on balls. A moment later he had scored Boston College's first counter of the contest.

PERFECT IN FIELD

Subsequent times at bat didn't lift the O'Rourke average out of the "zero" class, but did aid his team's cause. He reached three times in five attempts—once on a walk and the other times on fielder's choices.

On each of his four official trips to the plate, O'Rourke smashed the ball solidly, but each time his drive went right at a slick fielding opponent.

Wednesday afternoon, Charlie was again in action, this time against Providence College. In six trips to the plate he rapped three hits and boosted his batting average into the charmed .300 circle.

Against Villanova, the Malden senior, who will be married to Miss Mary Frances Madden, "the girl next door," on June 17, two days after the close of the Boston College diamond campaign, accepted three chances in the field. Two days later Charlie had five chances. He has yet to make an error.

As was the case on the gridiron, during his star studded three years of varsity football, O'Rourke makes mighty few false moves on the diamond.

He bats well, fields with finesse, has a good arm, is fairly fast, very smart on the base paths and is ever alert both at bat and in the field.

KEPT BUSY

In the Villanova game, a Wildcat took liberties with the O'Rourke "gun" and before you could say "Mickey Connolly" Charlie had rifled the ball to his former passing partner—Connolly is the second baseman—and the over-ambitious Wildcat was a dead feline.

The amazing thing about O'Rourke's baseball performance is the manner in which he returned to the diamond.

After a sterling year with the freshman diamond forces in 1939 he was unable to play varsity baseball because of spring football obligations. After a hectic recent fall on the gridiron and a busy winter of personal appearances, studying, etc., he had planned to forego further athletic competition and slip quietly out of Boston College on June 11, Commencement Day.

Mentor Maguire's shortage of outfielders ruined O'Rourke's plans but Charlie is happy to help the cause of alma mater and is enjoying to the limit his final fling at college competition.

Talun Gets Angel Bout

Victor over Pantaleon Maniapig in straight falls, Wladislau Talun of Poland has been paired with The Angel in a championship match at the Arena next week.

It will be a battle between physical freaks. Talun is 6-8 and weighs 302 while the title-holding Angel has the heaviest, ugliest head ever seen on the continent and a Neanderthal body.

If Talun should be victorious he will be the biggest man in history to hold the title. The late Wayne Big Mann was the largest pervious champion. Talun not only is taller than was Munn but is 27 pounds heavier.

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press

BOB FELLER, Indians—Saved victory over Red Sox by going in in ninth inning with two on and none out and retiring the side.

BILL KNICKERBOCKER and MYRIL HOAG, White Sox—Each made four hits to help defeat former Yankee teammates.

DENNY GALEHOUSE, Browns—Pitched one-hit game against Senators.

HAL SCHUMACHER, Giants—Held Cubs to six hits for 2-1 victory.

LLOYD WANER, Braves—Made three hits while subbing in outfield during triumph over Cardinals.

HAL NEWHOUSER, Tigers—Pitched seven-hit victory over Athletics.

TOM LIVINGSTON, Phillies—Pinch single scored two runs in ninth against

GALEHOUSE, SOX CASTOFF, HURLS ONE-HITTER

47

The Chicago White Sox are performing tricks again in the American League, hovering around second place with a collection of castoffs while other star-studded clubs wallow in despair.

Their aging pitchers have surpassed the staffs of every other team in both majors by hurling 17 complete games out of 24 played, in spite of hit-and-miss help from their teammates.

The Sox have played errorless ball in only four of their contests, and their inconspicuous hitting has caused nine of their 14 victories to come through a one-run wringer.

MOSTLY CASTOFFS

Their lineup includes Joe Kuhel and Taft Wright, a couple of pickups from the Washington Senators; Dario Lodigiani, a throw-away by the Philadelphia Athletics; Billy Knickerbocker, castoff utility infielder of the New York Yankees; Myril Hoag, who was passed around by both the Yanks and St. Louis Browns, and other derelicts.

But this conglomeration has been upheld by the abiding faith in Manager James Joseph Dykes, and ability to rise to the occasion.

They whipped out a 14-hit offensive and sent the once-proud Yankees crashing to their fifth straight defeat, 13-1.

REDS BLOW IN NINTH

The Detroit Tigers broke their six-game losing streak by overwhelming the Athletics, 10-2, with a vicious 18-hit attack and the seven-hit hurling of young Hal Newhouser.

The St. Louis Browns shut out the Washington Senators, 7-0, with a sensational one-hit pitching performance by slender Dennis Galehouse, one of the pitchers the Sox got from the Red Sox last winter. He had a potential no-hitter until Jim Bloodworth singled with two out in the seventh.

Cincinnati's world champions went staggering to their fifth consecutive defeat, 5-4, at the hands of the Phillies in the first night game of the year. Gene Thompson blew up to give the National League tail-enders four runs in the ninth.

Hal Schumacher outpitched Claude Passeau, six hits to eight, and led the New York Giants to a 2-1 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

College 150's Vie on Charles For Ivy Title

Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, Pennsylvania and M. I. T. 150-pound crews will clash in the feature race of the American Rowing Ass'n 10-event program on the Charles river tomorrow.

The regatta will get underway at 11 a. m. with the singles races. The varsity lightweights will wind up the show.

Harvard and Tech crews rate favoritism in the 150-pound race. These two crews have met twice this season, the Crimson edging through to a triumph in the first tangle but losing the second. Victories on both sides were by practically the same margin.

An interesting race is promised in the drive for the Stewards Cup. Competing will be the U. S. Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School, Harvard freshmen, Eliot House, M. I. T. third varsity, Shrewsbury high and Harvard third varsity.

HE'E SAFE. Phil Rizzuto of Yankees (10) is pulled away from second base to catch throw-in of Myril Hoag's double to left in fourth inning of Thursday's game with White Sox. He gathers in ball as Hoag swoops toward bag in ballet-like slide. Rizzuto apparently has ball in plenty of time to get Hoag, but latter slid under him, as photo shows. White Sox won game, 13-1.

STATE TO HOLD GRID SCHOOL AT HYANNIS

A football coaching school, the first of its kind on Cape Cod, will be held this coming summer, from July 7 to Aug. 15, at the Hyannis State Teachers College, according to the announcement of the State Department of Education.

Lou Little, head football coach at Columbia University, will conduct the course, assisted by Tom Whelan of Lynn English.

The lectures will consist of discussions and practice demonstrations in methods of coaching football. Fundamentals in blocking, tackling, kicking, passing, individual position play, line and backfield play, formation, team offense and defense, plays and strategy will be covered.

This course will be of interest to prospective coaches, or experienced coaches already in service who wish to improve their techniques under expert instruction.

In addition to assisting Lou Little, Tom Whelan, athletic coach and instructor in science at Lynn English High School, will give courses on aquatics, and the advanced coaching of basketball, baseball and track.

BERGER KID ON 5 STRAIGHT WINNERS

CHICAGO, May 16 (AP)—There's a baby faced kid of 17 at Sportsman's Park who is out to make as big a name for himself as Brother Maurice—and Brother Maurice Berger was a highly regarded jockey when he retired this winter.

Yesterday the kid, Jimmy Berger, 93 pounds of natural jockey, just about did it, riding five straight winners. It was the first time this rare feat ever had been accomplished at Sportsman's Park.

More than that, Jimmy rode losing shots, two paying more than $30. A $2 parlay on all five would have returned $143,770.60.

Jimmy, a Louisville lad, got into racing last year. Nick Burger, a former rider and now a trainer, saw Jimmy around the Churchill Downs stables frequently and finally asked him his name.

"Any relation to Maurice?" Nick asked. Getting an affirmative reply, he quickly told the youngster: "Show up tomorrow and I'll let you gallop a few horses."

Jimmy has been galloping horses ever since. It wasn't until last April 19 that he rode a winner—Hallie, a 12 to 1 shot—and that race cost him money. His mount ran out of line and he was fined $50, twice as much as he received for riding a winner.

Jimmy's five straight winners yesterday were Killarney Lass, Millmore, Patapsco, Colonel Martin and Linkville.

WILSON PICKS FIVE WINNERS

Dave Wilson, uncontested "king" of the turf handicapping fraternity, successfully called five winners yesterday at Suffolk Downs. His two code horses, Beacon Street and Red Raider, also came home in front.

This quintet of winners brought his total for the first four days of the East Boston meet up to 14, which gives him an average of 3.5 winners per day. A figure which is seldom approached by any other turf expert.

Wilson's graded handicaps appear exclusively in the PEACH and GREEN EDITIONS of THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, both of which contain the most complete turf information to be had.

The PEACH, a sister to the GREEN, boasts a host of features, including the Past Performance Charts of the horses 24 hours before they race; Wilson's Form, and other well known selectors at outside tracks.

In addition to the above, The GREEN contains the latest line, Jockey changes, track condition, and scratches.

Wilson's record for the week:

MONDAY

Free Again, $12.20 Advocator, $4.60

TUESDAY

Three School Meets On Saturday Slate

Action on the schoolboy track program tomorrow afternoon will be divided into three outstanding meets as close to 800 athletes representing a grand total of 56 schools swing into stride.

At Fitchburg, the 15th annual Fitchburg relays will draw its usual share of local favorites; Lawrence high school will defend its class A title at the Essex County championships in Lawrence while th eprep and private schools battle at M. I. T.

Lawrence high school's captain, Ed Medley, will be the only defending champion competing in the Essex meet. Last year, Medley romped to victory in the 100-yard dash. Tomorrow, he will compete in the 220-yard run, broad jump and high jump as well as his dash specialty.

Beverly high will be defending champion in Class B, with Gloucester high looming as chief contender for this title.

The relay carnival in Fitchburg will consist of 15 relays in all four classes. Entries in this meet include:

Coach Makes Two Shifts In Tech Crew

SYRACUSE, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—Bob Moch, coach of the M. I. T. crew, made two shifts in his varsity boating today in preparation for tomorrow's test on Onondaga Lake against Syracuse.

He moved Mikolajzk from the junior eight No. 3 spot to the same position in the varsity shell, and shifted Bill Folberth from No. 2 to stroke, as Joe Gavin moved into No. 2.

Others to start for the varsity: James Malloch, bow; Don Howard, No. 4; Alex Pockus, No. 5; Carl Mueller, No. 6; James Spitz, No. 7, and Reece Wingenroth, coxwain.

Syracuse, seeking its second victory in three starts, will have Dave Uffelman, ill last week, back at No. 3. Otherwise, the boating will be the same as that which beat Cornell last week: Arthur Hughes, bow; Harvey S. Hutcheon, No. 2; Richard Willenborg, No. 4; Howard Ladage, No. 5; Richard Lea, No. 6; Rogers Waugh, No. 7; George Hilfinger, stroke, and William McDougall, coxswain.

Darkhorse Combine Beats Somerville

ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 16 (AP)—A darkhorse combination of a couple of dentists, as many lawyers and three business men from Davenport, Ia., won the National Y. M. C. A. Veterans' volley ball championship last night.

Defeated once by Somerville, Mass., in the double elimination system used in the tournament, the Iowans won a double victory over Somerville in the finals, 15-8, 15-8 and 15-2, 15-13.

MUNGO TO JOIN ROYALS

MONTREAL, May 16 (AP)—The Montreal Royals announced last night that Van Lingle Mungo, colorful righthanded pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, had been added to their staff under option and would report to the club at Rochester tomorrow.

"THIS'LL DO IT"—Lou Jenkins promises General John J. Phelan, New York state boxing commissioner, that he'll kayo Bob Montgomery tonight, and says he'll do it with his right.

MONTY PICKED OVER JENKINS IN N. Y. BOUT

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Lightweight Champion Lew Jenkins weighed in at exactly 135 pounds for his 10-round non-title match with Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia Negro, in Madison Square Garden tonight. Montgomery scaled 136½.

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Laughin' Lew Jenkins goes to the post against serious Bob Montgomery in Madison Square Garden tonight to try to prove once again that the best way to get ready for a fight is to play the jute box circuit on a motorcycle.

And young Bob, a Philadelphia Negro, who works harder for a fight than a bridegroom trying to avoid attention, is just as sure he can show that Lew's way doesn't pay.

Of course, this immediate 10-round tea party will pay for both of them, regardless, since they'll be cutting up the big end of an expected $40,000 gate, kindly contributed by a "house" of some 14,000 customers. And, if Montgomery wins he'll also have a chance to pick up some more change in a shot at Fritzie Zivic's welterweight title.

LEW TRAVELS FAST

But beyond that, this tussle, which has no bearing on Jenkins' lightweight championship, should decide whether the right way to get ready to bash another guy's beak is (a) the Jenkins system or burn the candle at three ends—or (b) the Montgomery manner of putting your mind to it and really working.

But this time, the dice may not roll seven for Lew. In fact, the betting men are so sure of it, they've made him a 7 to 5 underdog for the fight. They're remembering how close Montgomery came to taking the skinny Texas thumper apart the last time they met, when Bob had Lew on the floor and then blew a close decision by going into a crouch in the closing rounds.

From all indications, the fight won't last long, once they come out swinging at 9 p. m. (E.S.T.).

Collegiate Golfers Settle Title Today

By BILL GRIMES

With all due respect to the golf enthusiasts who laid a buck and a half on the line to sit in on the first annual Big 8 Invitation, The Country Club was the biggest contributor to British War Relief.

For more than two weeks Greenkeeper Howard Farrant had his entire ground crew priming The Country Club course for the Big 8 . . . Harold W. Pierce, the president of the U. S. G. A., who is chairman of the green committee at Brookline, issued orders to have The Country Club in championship shape, irrespective of his budget. And along with what it cost The Country Club to prime its course, every member of the Brookline club purchased at least one ticket.

The three-day Woodland match and match play invitation started this morning . . . it's a great take in and the contestants will be allowed to start until 4 o'clock this afternoon . . . it should be a mecca for the high handicap players, for there will be as many divisions for match play as there are qualifiers . . . although the Woodland contestants will qualify from scratch, with the exception of the championship flight, all divisions will play from handicaps . . . Harold "Jug" McSpaden, the winner of the Big 8 will play in the fourth annual Goodall Round Robin invitation next week at Fresh Meadow . . . Caddy Joe McDonald called every shot for Byron Nelson, the P.G.A. champion, during the first round of the Big 8 . . . Nelson had never seen the course until Wednesday morning but he posted a 71, even par . . . Not bad caddying.

Any time that the fair sex golfers are in doubt, they blame the golf writers. So, it was to be expected that the scribes would be accused of stupidity when they came out in the press that Mrs. E. H. Baker, six times winner of the state title, played No. 7 for the Western District against Northern at Concord last Monday. But it was Edith who, incidentally carded an 83, so she'll be playing No. 2 against The Country Club at Pine Brook Valley on Monday.

There isn't any one who has a keener knowledge of The Country Club than Francis D. Ouimet. And, when the former United States open and twice winner of the national title admits that the Brookline course was never harder to score on than on Wednesday when the Big 8 Invitation was played that should account for the failure of the big shots to knock Old Man Par for a loop . . . the playoffs of the Northern section of the Eastern Intercollegiate Golf Association today down in Connecticut has taken the kick out of the N. E. Intercollegiate championships, which started today at Oakley . . . Dartmouth, Yale and Harvard tied for the title at Belmont, New Haven and Providence and are playing off at Greenwich . . . Don't be surprised if the Big Green grabs the Crown . . .

LAUD MANCUSO FOR SUCCESS OF CARDINALS

ST. LOUIS, May 16 (AP)—It's been a long time since Gus Mancuso caught his first game for the St. Louis Cardinals back in 1928.

The little backstop—walking catalog of National League batting weaknesses—has played on five pennant winning teams since then. Now, he's back "home" and going stronger than ever—a veteran who is young again.

A lot of factors have combined to get the Cardinals away to a fast start in pursuit of their first pennant in seven years, but Mancuso's handling of rookie pitchers stands out above everything else in the Red Bird drive.

NO MISTAKES

John Grodzicki, Hank Gornicki, Howard Krist and Ernie White—have won eight decisions while dropping only two.

The reason for such a uniformly fine showing is readily volunteered by one Cardinal hurler:

"It's a little guy by the name of Gus Mancuso."

"Gus hasn't made a mistake yet," said this admirer. "He knows all the hitters in the league. And what he doesn't know isn't in the book."

Joining in the praise, another teammate remarked:

"You never saw such a comeback. He's been riffling line drives between outfielders till they're sick. Every day. What a hitter. What a catcher."

BEST BATTER

Gus played on two Cardinal championship clubs before starting his three-stop tour of the National League. He proved an important cog in the Giants' pennant winning teams of 1933, '36 and '37 and later was with the Cubs and Dodgers. Brooklyn returned him to the Cardinals in a deal for Catcher Mickey Owen last winter.

BOWDOIN INVADES ORONO

ORONO, Me., May 16 (INS)—Seeking to clinch the state baseball championship, Bowdoin College today invades Orono to clash with University of Maine.

Louis Never To Quit Ring With Crown

WASHINGTON, May 16 (INS)—John Roxborough, co-manager of heavyweight champion Joe Louis, today said that the Brown Bomber will never retire undefeated.

Denying rumors that Louis is getting tired of the ring, Roxborough said:

"I think it's safe to say that Louis will never imitate Gene Tunney and quit while he still has the crown.

"In this fast-moving world nobody knows what will happen, but Joe was made to fight. He has never asked to be retired and as long as he wants to continue we're going down the line for him."

MELLOW LIGHT BEER—ALE

BOSTON After DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

A HALF-THOUSAND WELL-GROOMED citizens of both sexes and of varying social degree saw the new summer season in at the Ritz Roof . . . Their presence was evidence that the Defense Effort, far from discomboomerating a mass determination for "pleasure as usual," is co-ordinating it, if anything . . . Co-ordinating it in one of two ways or both, namely, by placing more of the necessary moolah in circulation, or luring the same precious stuff from its normal repositories—cardboard boxes, bank-cans or checking accounts . . .

IT COSTS MONEY TO ENJOY an evening at the Ritz Roof . . . From the hint of plenty afforded by the sell-out attendance at last night's glittering seasonal premiere money undoubtedly is available for enjoyment of a topflight group of entertainers such as Mary Raye and Naldi, the great dancers; Bernice Parks, an American image of Carmen Miranda (in action), and Six Gorgeous Dolls, the land's super-chorus . . . Oh, yes, and a band!

BUT BEFORE RETURNING to a few sidelights of last night at the Ritz we would like to pass along a brand new thought of our own on the now notorious flight of Rudolph Hess to Scotland . . . The clue to the reason for the fabulous swoop by parachute from the skies was so plain that Ellery Queen, Peter Whimsey, Perry Mason and all the heroes of detective fiction would have found it not nearly abstruse enough to put them on their mettle . . . But a clunk like this reporter . . . How did we miss it even for a moment?

THE CLUE? . . . WHY, THOSE RED-PAINTED TOENAILS, of course! . . . Fraulein Hess imagined she was the Queen of the Pigeons!

WELL, AS YOU WILL READ in the society columns, half of the Blue Book was pageable at the Roof . . . And the living theater was well represented . . . Luella Gear, Dorothy and Paul Stone, Charles Colling made a bee-line for the Ritz the minute their final curtain dropped . . . Bobby Clark may have turned up later, and he would have heard some encouraging reports on his peformance . . . The talk was that his new show was so old-fashioned that it creaked, but that he was excellent.

ALTHOUGH M. Naldi (of Raye and Naldi) looks more like Gus Sonnenberg or Melvin Westenburg than a he-dancer, and although he wears a ball-player's haircut which makes him resemble a hero of a Ring Lardner fable, we are ready to greet him and his lovely partner, Mary Raye—to join in a chorus, really—with the salute: "Hail, the best!" . . . As for Miss Parks, late of Brookline and now the toast of New York's playboy-set—she is vibrant . . . We couldn't be sure, until we saw her, that little Bernice of Brookline had developed so miraculously as the stories had it.

WE ARE NOW CONVINCED . . . Except for a baffling hair-do, which made her look a bit like a frightened pekingese, she was slim and lively . . . The kid's forte, however, is doing in an American way, most of the things Carmen Miranda is able to achieve in the Latin-American way . . . Bernice makes with the hips—(bumps, my dear), she sings with tremendous animation, and she pronounces those spiggoty lyrics like a Portuguese—like the Portuguese Carmen Miranda, to be blunt . . . Yet the Parks routine is not a Miranda imitation—quite . . . It is individual and good . . . Saluta, Bernice.

AND THE DOLLS ARE LOVELIER than their pictures . . . The stag-line was forming near Ed Wyner's table as we were quitting the jernt, just before curfew . . . Mr. Wyner, wisely and in his role of the town's most accomplished boniface, was playing hard to get and saying that it was a house-rule not to carry notes to the damsels . . . He wouldn't even give out their addresses, and about the only way any one is going to be able to get this much-wanted information, would be the nearly inconceivable one of having saved this column of two days ago—and then calling for the gals by name, at the Ritz desk . . . Remember we placed considerable importance on that roster of the new ladies of the Ritz ensemble.

THE COMMISSIONER WAS BEING complimented on a speech he delivered at Harvard last week . . . One of the Phelan girls—is there a Pat?—was among those who had heard about the Commish's oratorical efforts . . . She said he was "swell" . . . We missed another Harvard connection, the gal the Lampoon brought East for an accolade, Marjorie Something, who is supposed to be more lovely than any infanta in Hollywood, and a threat to the laurels of the late Jean Harlow . . . That Lampoon outfit is smarter than we — or anybody had thought . . . It seemed that Marjorie's bosses, who thought the publicity was better than taking a half-page ad in a trade-paper, paid the kid's expenses to Boston, and home again, of course.

'MISS BISHOP' TRIUMPH FOR MARTHA SCOTT

Martha Scott, who wasn't allowed to live very long in her picture before this, has it made up to her-in "Cheers for Miss Bishop," in which she lives to a tissuepaper-thin, enfeebled but gallant old age.

"Cheers for Miss Bishop" is now tenanting the Paramount and Fenway Theaters. It will take you on a sentimental journey back to a way of life whose like we shall not see again, a time when one could look forward to a rewarding contentment and security in later years if, to coin a phrase, he minded his p's and q's.

Such has been Miss Bishop's life in the 60 years since she left her home town and a devoted but thwarted would-be fiance for a Midwest college in Sept. 17, 1879, and eventually a teaching career.

Ella Bishop is a clear-eyed, appealing young person, whose passionate devotion to her career seemed always to thrust romance in the background. After the hometown boy's love goes unrequited, several years sauntered on before she gave any man more than a second glance. He was a smart, young lawyer. Just before he and Ella are to be married, Ella's flirtatious cousin, Amy, deliberately goes about compromising him. Sam, who will always love Ella, arranges that they be married. Much later, when the deserted Amy dies, Ella adopts the orphaned daughter, Gretchen.

In her middle years, romance again nods in Ella's direction, and that also ends unsatisfactorily. And so, when the years total up, the frail little lady's greatest satisfaction is in the successes of her countless pupils and their deep regard for her.

There are those who will glibly bracket "Cheers for Miss Bishop" with "Good-Bye, Mr. Chips," a completly inaccurate comparison, except that the leading characters of both films are in the teaching profession.

"Cheers for Miss Bishop" is a well-made, effective picture, in which Miss Scott gives a touching performance, but it in no wise approaches the beautiful simplicity and unerring rightness of the "Chips" classic.

Judy Canova, teamed with Bob Hope's handle-bar mustachioed righthand-man, Jerry Colonna, is the star of the second feature "Sis Hopkins," which served the late Mabel Normand nobly in her hey-day, and should do as much for this lovable hillbilly. P.D.
